Byrnes' Party Leaves for U. S.

Byrnes Expresses View Differences With Reds Can Be Settled

Paris, May 17 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and a party of 15 other persons, including Senators Tom Connally (D-Tex.) and Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.), left Orly Field today for Washington after the deadlocked Foreign Ministers Conference had adjourned until June 15.

Before departing, Byrnes expressed his confidence that the differences between the United States and the Soviet Union could be settled.

Don't Let Them Starve!

TO THE CITIZENS OF KINGSTON:

Five hundred million people are hungry! One out of every four humans on this earth is starving!

Our self-respect and our sense of human decency demands that we do all we can to stop the spread of famine.

Our traditional Yankee "horse sense" and hard-headed practicality as typified by that military genius, General Dwight Eisenhower, tell us that "food is necessary all over Europe and must be sent to preserve the peace."

A hungry man isn't interested in democracy. A mother who watches her baby die of starvation doesn't care who runs the government as long as he promises bread.

The Emergency Food Collection offers you a simple, direct and personal means of giving help to the hungry.

The main objective of the collection is to secure cash contributions. Much more food can be obtained for a given amount of money, if it can be bought centrally and in large quantities. Also there will be a considerable saving in the cost of collection, packaging and transportation.

We realize the many calls there have been on you for all types of worthy projects but may we remind you:

While you were reading this appeal someone starved to death!

Checks may be made payable to Harold V. Clayton, Treasurer, Emergency Food Committee, State of New York National Bank, Kingston, N. Y.

R. H. RIGNALL,

Chairman, Emergency Food Committee.

Truman Has Said He Would Seize Roads; Wage Talks Stall on Labor Bid

Washington, May 17 (AP)—With a nationwide railroad strike set for 4 p. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow, President Truman asked both sides in the wage dispute to the White House today for a series of conferences starting at 2:30 p. m.

This will be one of his last, if not the final, effort at government intervention to prevent a rail tie-up by a walkout of 250,000 engineers and trainmen.

The President has said on two occasions that he will seize the carriers if a settlement is not reached before the strike deadline.

Wage negotiations stalled yesterday when the representatives of the management rejected a modified proposal by the trainmen and engineer brotherhoods for a wage increase of 18 per cent or a minimum of $1.44 cents a day. They originally asked 25 percent or a floor of $2.50 a day.

The carriers would not go beyond the 16 cents an hour or $1.28 a day recommended by the President's emergency board. The employers contend even this would cost $584,000,000 on the basis of estimated employment for 1946.

First on List
First on the President's list this afternoon are A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen, and Alvanley Johnston, head of the engineers.

Mr. Truman then will talk with C. J. Goff, representing the firemen; T. C. Cashen of the switchmen, and W. W. Fraser of the conductors.

These three operating unions were awarded a 16 cents an hour increase by an arbitration board in March, but they are now demanding an additional $1.20 a day.

In another meeting Mr. Truman will confer with John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, and D. P. Loomis, W. T. Farley, H. A. Enoch, and J. P. Parrish, representing the railroad conference committees.

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, told of the conference plans. He replied "no comment" when asked what the government's position would be if the workers stayed away from their jobs after government seizure.

Some union officials contend they would not be liable to the criminal penalties of the Smith-Connally Act in this event because the strike instructions went out a month ago. They say the men would be carrying out orders issued prior to the government taking over.

The Smith-Connally Act provides penalties for those who call on or encourage a strike against a government-operated plant or industry.

Governor Sends Wire To Senator

Telegram to Wicks Acknowledges Loss to Kingston Industry Over Years

Expresses Interest

Dewey Says that Matter of Bridge Will Get 'Adequate Study'

Governor Thomas E. Dewey yesterday in a telegram to Senator Arthur H. Wicks, this city, took specific acknowledgment of the industrial handicap imposed upon Kingston in recent years by the lack of transportation facilities across the Hudson river from Dutchess county.

The telegram was received by Senator Wicks' office after he had left for ceremonies marking the opening of interim ferry service between this city and Rhinecliff.

Governor Dewey expressed his regret at being unable to attend the ceremony. He was in Albany at the dedication of the State office building as a memorial to the late Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York, for whom the building was named.

Governor Dewey also said he realized that communities in upper Dutchess county "have been deprived of valuable educational, professional and cultural contacts with the historic city of Kingston."

The governor said he hoped the ferry would fill the "immediate needs" of the communities and said further, "it may be that the near future will indicate the need of a bridge connecting Kingston with the communities in upper Dutchess county on the east shore of the Hudson river. As soon as adequate studies have been completed to determine the effect of the construction of the projected thruway, the matter of providing for the construction of a highway crossing for vehicular traffic connecting the city of Kingston will receive my most earnest and sympathetic consideration."

Text of Telegram
The text of the governor's telegram follows:

Albany, N. Y., May 16, 1946
Hon. Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Senator:

I regret that the occasion of the dedication of the Governor Alfred E. Smith Building in Albany prevented me from attending the ceremony.

Boss Gives City Drivers Praise

Because of City's Low Accident Rate, Police Hold No Campaign

Kingston's automobile drivers today received a verbal pat on the back from the man most concerned with their efficiency and record—Chief of Police Ernest Boss.

Citing Kingston's low accident rate, Chief Boss said the local department was not taking active part in the national accident-reduction campaign sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police. The drive will continue until July 1.

"Considering the number of drivers involved our accident rate is excellent," Chief Boss said. "I certainly don't discount the necessity for the nation-wide drive," he continued, "but here in Kingston the drivers are doing a swell job. The police supervision has been adequate and the low accident rate reflects credit on both the police department and the drivers."

Some Drivers Watched

Chief Boss said the police department is training its sights on a few reckless commercial drivers now operating in Kingston, but these conditions will be corrected in a short time.

Police records show that only one accident involving personal injury has occurred in Kingston this month, while the total for the year is not more than 20. Kingston's accident rate figures are decidedly lower than in the vast majority of cities.

Russians Quote 2 Germans as Saying Spain Aided Reich

Military Attaches Declare Spain Worked Under Neutrality Mask; Used as Base

Moscow, May 17 (AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia devoted two pages today to a 10,000-word statement, attributed to two German officers who served in Spanish cities as military attaches, which charged that the Franco regime, "under a mask of neutrality," actually participated in the war on the side of Germany.

The officers, now prisoners in the Soviet Union, were described as Lt. Gen. Gunther Krappe, former military attaché in Madrid, and Col. Hans Remer, attaché in Tangier.

The statement said Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl—both now on trial in Nuremberg on war crimes charges—were active in arranging Spanish collaboration.

The officers were quoted as saying that after the Spanish Civil War the German and Spanish general staffs, under the direction of Keitel and Jodl, collaborated in drawing up a secret "Isabella Felix" plan for seizing Gibraltar and widening Spanish possessions in Africa.

During the war, the German officers declared, Spain served Germany as an economic base and her military attaché in London supplied Germany with military information.

Due to the nature of our service activity in the capacity of military attaches in Madrid and Tangier, facts are known to us which show that Spain, under a mask of neutrality, actually participated in the war on the side of Germany," the statement said.

"The position occupied by Germany toward Spain—the use of Spain as a war economic base for Germany—was a direct result of the collaboration of the Spanish government," the statement declared.

Takes Office Parodi Cites Task

New York, May 17 (AP)—Alexander Parodi, French delegate, told the United Nations Security Council today on assuming the council presidency that "our task is to maintain and develop the spirit of cooperation."

The first council chairman to conduct the meetings in French, Parodi said: "I think I may express the anguish of all peoples of the world today in the face of the difficult situation and express the hope they have in us. The task of our organization can only be a difficult one."

Keresman Takes Verbal Shot at Governor Dewey

Peter Keresman, secretary of the New York State Police Conference, rapped Governor Dewey yesterday in behalf of 40,000 policemen throughout the state for vetoing a bill passed by the last legislature to pension municipal policemen after 25 years.

Formal protest by the State Police Conference legislative committee, representing 40,000 policemen, was drafted at a meeting held yesterday in the DeWitt Clinton Hotel in Albany.

Mr. Keresman in a letter to Governor Dewey termed the action "ill-advised" and due to lack of understanding. He pointed out the hazards and strains of police work and refuted opposition by the Mayors' Conference, explaining that 45 municipalities had endorsed the bill.

"The governor's veto of the bill will impair police service to every community," a statement issued by the committee declared. "The governor overlooked the fact that the bill was passed by a large majority of the legislature."

Labor Relations Committee Formed By Local C. of C.

No Comment Is Made on Withdrawal of 5 Unions From Organization

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce had no comment to make today on the withdrawal of five labor unions from the local organization over a controversy regarding union representation on the Chamber's Board of Directors and standing committees.

"No comment" was the terse reply to inquiries regarding the Chamber's reaction to the withdrawal.

Donald Williams, secretary of the Chamber, said, however, that a Labor Relations Committee had been selected and approved by the Board of Directors several days before George Yerry submitted the resignation of the five unions.

No Names Announced
The names of the members of the committee on which it is understood labor will be represented, were not announced, Williams said, because the Chamber of Commerce hadn't been able to gain the consent of the persons they had selected.

he makeup of the Labor Relations Committee will be announced Monday, Williams said.

Yerry Refutes Statement
Meanwhile George Yerry refuted broadcast statements that the five unions withdrew from the Chamber after the Labor Relations Committee had been announced.

Yerry pointed out that action on the union's resignation was taken at a meeting Monday night, while the Chamber of Commerce directors did not meet until Wednesday to put the finishing touches to the labor committee.

Catherwood Is Among Those at Luncheon; Pledges Renewed

A formulating committee for the purpose of organizing a permanent group, comprised of Ulster and Dutchess county residents, to seek the erection of a bridge between Kingston and Rhinebeck was appointed at a luncheon in connection with ferry celebration at Rhinebeck Thursday.

A resolution adopted at the Beekman Arms luncheon called for a meeting on Thursday, June 6, at 12:15, when a permanent organization will be formed. James L. Rowe, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, will call the meeting. George E. Yerry, Jr., introduced the resolution.

Members of the Kingston and Rhinebeck ferry committee were named to the temporary group to plan the June meeting. It is believed that the fight to secure the bridge will enlist the active support of thousands of residents of both communities.

The theme of the brief speeches at the luncheon was that a bridge was needed here and that the fight must be continued until it is erected. These expressions came from members of the State Legislature representing the two counties, from members of the New York State Highway Department and from representatives of the New York State Chamber of Commerce as well as local officials.

Attorney Benson H. Frost, of Rhinebeck, acted as toastmaster and before introducing the guests gave a brief history of ferry service between the communities. He also stressed the necessity for a means of access and a year-round service.

He expressed the gratitude of the northern Dutchess County Committee to William Schryver and his son, Don, for bringing them over to Kingston in their yacht.

He also congratulated the committee in charge of arrangements for the expeditious manner in which the program was conducted.

Wicks, Hatfield Give Pledges
Senator Arthur H. Wicks reiterated his pledge to continue to fight for a bridge here as long as he is in the legislature and outlined the procedure and the work in connection with legislation.

Assemblyman E. I. Hatfield stated that he would continue to work with Senator Wicks until we had the bridge.

Senator Bontecou and Assemblyman Wadlin were also present. Robert Hoe, chairman, W. K. Hagginsbotham, executive officer, and James F. Loughran of the New York State Bridge Authority were present. They stated that the Authority advocated a bridge here and hoped that in the not too distant future such a bridge will be erected.

Commissioner M. P. Catherwood of the State Department of Commerce and J. S. Bixby, district engineer of the State Department of Public Works, were introduced.

Ceremony at Rhinecliff
At the Rhinecliff terminal preceding the luncheon the tape was cut by Chairman Supple and brief talks were given by Senator Bontecou, Assemblyman Hatfield, Robert Hoe, J. F. Loughran and Mayor Wheeler.

A large number of residents of Rhinecliff and Rhinebeck and other northern Dutchess county communities were present at the exercises marking the inaugural of interim ferry service from the Rhinecliff side.

When the ferry conveyed the Kingston committee back from the Rhinebeck program, it already had started to do a thriving business. On this trip almost the entire space for vehicles was taken and there were many passengers. Cars bearing license from Ohio and New Jersey were abroad.

Indians Meet to Consider British Proposal For an Independent Federated Union

New Delhi, May 17 (AP)—The three members of the British Cabinet Mission, facing the questions of a corps of newspaper correspondents, asserted repeatedly today that this time the British definitely intended to leave India.

The Congress party's working committee met today. It may decide whether to cooperate along the lines of the mission's recommendations yesterday that an independent federal union of India be organized and that an interim government of Indians be formed to rule until the new constitution is effective.

Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, was expected to state his views tomorrow. The big question whether the Congress party and Moslem League will participate in setting up the machinery for writing the new constitution then will be answered.

Early indication: were that the Moslems were displeased with the plan drafted by the Cabinet Mission, but that the Congress party, India's largest, would go along with the proposals.

Trade, and by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, Lord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India, stuck resolutely at the press conference to the theme that Britain wanted to surrender control of the country at the earliest possible moment.

Liquidation of the India office already has begun, he said. The Cabinet Mission will remain in India because "our next job is to get the plan accepted by the two main bodies—Moslems and Hindus," he said.

No time limit has been set for completion of the constitution, since that is the affair of the Indians, he added.

Viceroy Lord Wavell was expected to outline in a broadcast tonight the formation of an interim central government, as suggested by the Cabinet Mission, which proposed that a constitution convention of 385 delegates be assembled as soon as possible to work out the details of an eventual federation.

Comments in Moslem quarters indicated the plan would not find widespread acceptance among Moslems, but the official reaction of the Moslem League was expected to come from its president, Mahomed Ali Jinnah, who previously threatened civil war if Pakistan—separate and independent Moslem states—was not approved.

The cabinet group's plan appeared to be more in line with the Congress Party's views, as outlined during the past six weeks of conferences relative to Indian independence, than with the Moslem League ideas and Hindu reaction, although mixed, generally was one of jubilation amazement.

"I never thought the British would do that," said a Bombay shopkeeper.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, one of the Congress Party's leaders, advised Indians to study the proposal with care.

"Whether people like the announcement or not, it is going to be a most momentous one in the history of India," he said.

Truman Has Said He Would Seize Roads; Wage Talks Stall on Labor Bid

Washington, May 17 (AP)—With a nationwide railroad strike set for 4 p. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow, President Truman asked both sides in the wage dispute to the White House today for a series of conferences starting at 2:30 p. m.

Flanked by Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the British Board of Trade, and by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, Lord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India, stuck resolutely at the press conference to the theme that Britain wanted to surrender control of the country at the earliest possible moment.

Liquidation of the India office already has begun, he said. The Cabinet Mission will remain in India because "our next job is to get the plan accepted by the two main bodies—Muslims and Hindus," he said.

No time limit has been set for completion of the constitution, since that is the affair of the Indians, he added.

Viceroy Lord Wavell was expected to outline in a broadcast tonight the formation of an interim central government, as suggested by the Cabinet Mission, which proposed that a constitution convention of 355 delegates be assembled as soon as possible to work out the details of an eventual federation.

Comments in Muslim quarters indicated the plan would not find widespread acceptance, among Muslims, but the official reaction of the Muslim League was expected to come from its president,

Parodi Cites Task

New York, May 17 (AP)—Alexander Parodi, French delegate, told the United Nations Security Council today on assuming the council presidency that "our task is to maintain and develop the spirit of cooperation."

The first council chairman to conduct the meetings in French, Parodi said:

"I think I may express the anguish of all peoples of the world today in the face of the difficult situation and express the hope they have in us. The task of our organization can only be a difficult one."

The council then turned again to a discussion of rules on admitting members.

Keresman Takes Verbal Shot at Governor Dewey

Peter Keresman, secretary of the New York State Police Conference, rapped Governor Dewey yesterday in behalf of 40,000 policemen throughout the state for vetoing a bill passed by the last legislature to pension municipal policemen after 25 years.

Formal protest by the State Police Conference legislative committee, representing 40,000 policemen, was drafted at a meeting held yesterday in the DeWitt Clinton Hotel in Albany.

Mr. Keresman in a letter to Governor Dewey, termed the action "ill-advised" and due to lack of understanding. He pointed out the hazards and strains of police work and refuted opposition by the Mayors' Conference, explaining that 45 municipalities had endorsed the bill.

"The governor's veto of the bill will impair police service in every community," a statement issued by the committee declared.

"The governor overlooked the fact that the pension bill was a long overdue measure," the statement declared.

Catherwood Is Among Those at Luncheon; Pledges Renewed

A formulating committee for the purpose of organizing a permanent group, comprised of Ulster and Dutchess county residents, to seek the creation of a bridge between Kingston and Rhinebeck was appointed at a luncheon in connection with ferry celebration at Rhinebeck Thursday.

A resolution adopted at the Beekman Arms luncheon called for a meeting on Thursday, June 6, at 12:15, when a permanent organization will be formed. James L. Rowe, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, will call the meeting. George E. Yerry, Jr., introduced the resolution.

Members of the Kingston and Rhinebeck ferry committee were named to the temporary group to plan the June meeting. It is believed that the fight to secure the bridge will enlist the active support of thousands of residents of both counties.

The theme of the brief speeches at the luncheon was that a bridge was needed here and that the fight must be continued until it is erected. These expressions came from members of the State Legislature representing the two counties, from members of the New York State Highway Department and from representatives of the New York State Chamber of Commerce as well as local officials.

Attorney Benson H. Frost, of Rhinebeck, acted as toastmaster and before introducing the guests gave a brief history of ferry service between the communities. He also stressed the necessity for a means of access and a year-round service.

He expressed the gratitude of the northern Dutchess' County Committee to William Schryver and his son, Don, for bringing them over to Kingston in their yacht.

He also congratulated the committee in charge of arrangements for the expeditionary manner in which the program was conducted.

Wicks, Hatfield Give Pledges
Senator Arthur H. Wicks reiterated his pledge to continue to fight for a bridge here as long as he is in the legislature and outlined the procedure and the work in connection with legislation.

Assemblyman E. I. Hatfield stated that he would continue to work with Senator Wicks until we had the bridge.

Senator Bontecou and Assemblyman Wadlin were also presented.

Robert Hoe, chairman, W. K. Hagginbottom, executive officer, and James F. Loughran of the New York State Bridge Authority were presented. They stated that the Authority advocated a bridge here and hoped that in the not too distant future such a bridge will be erected.

Commissioner M. P. Catherwood of the State Department of Commerce and J. S. Bixby, district engineer of the State Department of Public Works, were introduced.

Ceremony at Rhinebeck
At the Rhinebeck terminal preceding the luncheon the tape was cut by Chairman Supple and brief talks were given by Senator Bontecou, Assemblyman Hatfield, Robert Hoe, J. F. Loughran and Mayor Wheeler.

A large number of residents of Rhinebeck and Dutchess county communities were present at the exercises marking the inaugural of interim ferry service from the Rhinebeck side.

When the ferry conveyed the Kingston committee back from the Rhinebeck program, it already had started to do a thriving business. On this trip almost the entire space for vehicles was taken and there were many passengers.

Cars bearing license from Ohio and New Jersey were aboard.

White House Reports 'Nothing New' in Coal Contract Negotiations

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The White House today reported there is "not a thing" new in the deadlocked soft coal contract negotiations.

President Truman, rebuffed on his proposal to the threatened nationwide rail strike which would halt movement of coal from mines, Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told a news conference he didn't think there was any chance that Mr. Truman would call John L. Lewis and Charles O'Neill, spokesmen for coal operators, to the White House today. He added, however, that "anything could happen at any time."

The United Mine Workers and the operators rejected last night the Presidential proposal for arbitration of their differences. It was Ross who replied "not a thing," when asked by reporters whether there were new developments in the coal dispute.

Mr. Truman arranged to remain at the White House to handle any developments, canceling a week-end trip to Missouri.

And despite the generally gloomy outlook, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said he found grounds "very intangible" though they might be—for believing that the negotiations might be resumed.

These came to an abrupt halt over the barrier raised by Lewis' demand for a seven per cent payroll levy to finance a miners' health and welfare fund.

Mr. Truman's arbitration suggestion followed, but it came to naught.

Turns It Down Cold
Lewis turned it down cold. He told the President his negotiating committee was not authorized to agree to such a step.

The operators rejected the proposal on all of the non-wage issues raised by Lewis, but acceded on the question of wages and hours.

They already have offered Lewis the equivalent of 18½ cents an hour in a wage increase to match postwar boosts in comparable industries.

But on the health and welfare demand, the controversy over unionization of foremen, the acceptance of federal mine inspectors' safety recommendations, and minor demands "going to the betterment of local living conditions, maintenance of property and settlement of community affairs," the operators said.

"If these demands continue to be pressed, the industry, and it alone, must make the decision in each case as to how far it can go."

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 17 (AP)—Selective demand continued to prop parts of today's stock market although many leaders were neglected in moderately lower ground.

The coal and railway labor situations still served as bullish deterrents. The late general recovery of Thursday faded when both sides in the bituminous controversy refused to accept the President's arbitration proposal. Individual situations such as earnings, dividends and split-up hopes again buoyed favorites.

Sizable blocks of low and medium-priced stocks expanded activity somewhat after the opening but irregularity was the rule near the fourth hour.

Ahead fractions to 2 points or so most of the time were International Telephone, American Woolen, Schenley, Park & Tilford, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Aircraft, Dow Chemical, General Electric, American Can, International Harvester, U. S. Lines and Pure Oil. An increased extra payment lifted American Locomotive.

Stumblers included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Beech Aircraft, Western Union, "A", American Water Works, Columbia Gas, Anaconda, Union Carbide, Hummer, Walker, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Texas Co.

Bonds were narrow and commodities uneven.

Great Grandmother Makes Plane Trip From Europe

New York, May 17 (AP)—The Kleiber family—three generations of it—fettled and worried at La Guardia Field yesterday while the airplane bringing great grandmother from Switzerland circled overhead for two hours and 35 minutes.

A traffic jam caused by rain and fog delayed the landing but the wheels of the big airliner finally touched the ground and Mrs. Hulda Kleiber, 73, of Basle, Switzerland, was reunited with her family yesterday.

"Everybody was sick coming over but me," she said to her son, Paul G. Kleiber of Congers, N. Y. "It was a shame too. The food was so good."

Other members of the family delegation were Kleiber's wife, Otalie; their sons, Paul, Jr., and Norman and his wife, Beatrice; a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Welchman, and their two children, Ileana, 10, and Stephen, 7.

Mrs. Kleiber, who will make her home in Congers, was examined by a physician after the flight. Said he: "She's perfect."

White House Reports 'Nothing New' in Coal Contract Negotiations

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The White House today reported there is "not a thing new" in the deadlocked soft coal contract negotiations.

President Truman, rebuffed on his proposal to the threatened nationwide rail strike which would halt movement of coal from mines.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told a news conference he didn't think there was any chance that Mr. Truman would call John L. Lewis and his associates to the White House today. He added, however, that "anything could happen at any time."

The United Mine Workers and the operators rejected last night the Presidential proposal for arbitration of their differences.

It was Ross who replied "not a thing," when asked by reporters whether there were new developments in the coal dispute.

Mr. Truman arranged to remain at the White House to handle any developments, including a weekend trip to Missouri.

And despite the generally gloomy outlook, Secretary of Labor Schwelb said he found grounds "very intangible" though they might be for believing that the negotiations might be resumed.

These came to an abrupt halt over the barrier raised by Lewis' demand for a seven per cent pay-roll levy to finance a miners' health and welfare fund.

Mr. Truman's arbitration suggestion followed, but it came to naught.

Turns It Down Cold

Lewis turned it down cold. He told the President his negotiating committee was not authorized to agree to such a step.

The operators rejected the proposal on all of the non-wage issues raised by Lewis, but acceded on the question of wages and hours.

They already have offered Lewis the equivalent of 18 1/2 cents an hour in a wage increase to match postwar boosts in comparable industries.

But on the health and welfare demand, the controversy over unionization of foremen, the acceptance of federal mine inspectors' safety recommendations, and minor demands "going to the betterment of local living conditions, maintenance of property and settlement of community affairs," the operators said.

"If these demands continue to be pressed, the industry, and it alone, must make the decision in each case as to how far it can go."

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 17 (AP)—Selective demand continued to prop parts of today's stock market although many leaders were neglected in moderately lower ground.

The coal and railway labor situations still served as bullish deterrents. The late general recovery of Thursday faded when both sides in the bituminous controversy refused to accept the President's arbitration proposal. Individual situations such as earnings, dividends and split-up hopes again buoyed favorites.

Sizeable blocks of low and medium-priced stocks expanded activity somewhat after the opening but irregularity was the rule near the fourth hour.

Ahead fractions to 2 points or so most of the time were International Telephone, American Woolen, Schenley, Park & Tilford, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, Dow Chemical, General Electric, American Can, International Harvester, U. S. Lines and Pure Oil. An increased extra payment lifted American Sumatra Tobacco, Stumblers included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Beech Aircraft, Western Union, "A," American Water Works, Columbia Gas, Anaconda, Pont, Union Carbide, Hiram Walker, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Texas Co.

Bonds were narrow and commodities uneven.

Low-Cost Landing Gears Being Made At Local Plant

Electrol Incorporated of 85 Grand street, this city, manufacturer of hydraulic devices for aeronautical and general industrial applications, is now in production on a series of low-cost landing gears especially designed for use on medium and lightweight personal planes, it is announced by B. N. Ashton, president.

The landing gears have attracted considerable attention on the part of personal aircraft engineers throughout the country and Model 400-2 has been adopted as standard equipment on the popular Aviation Corporation's well-known Seabee amphibian. Electrol also supplies the brake cylinders, landing gear retracting and wing flap operating control on the Seabee.

The Electrol landing gear is a straight leg, full cantilever design which can be used on fixed or retractable undercarriages. The piston does not touch the side of the cylinder because of the two bronze bearings located in the lower half of the cylinder. Elimination of all sliding motion against the interior wall of the cylinder contributes to the efficiency of the unit as well as to economy in its manufacture.

HASTE MAKES WASTE

Sumner Welles, usually pretty sane about foreign affairs, said a surprising thing in a recent broadcast. Criticizing the lack of action on the peace conference front, he seemed proud of the fact that although the Versailles treaty might be lacking in some respects, still, within nine months of the end of World War I peace had been concluded with all the nations of Europe. This time, after a year, no peace treaty has been signed with any European nation.

Is this to be deplored? Consider what happened after the first World War. The Versailles treaty and the peace settlements as a whole were what people nowadays would call "unrealistic."

Surely it is better to take a little time, to make haste slowly, to get the squabbles aired, to understand what we are doing, before making definite peace treaties.

When newspaper headlines deal with baseball and local improvements it is a sign that the world is mending.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION

The functions of the city council of Brooklyn, N. Y., were taken over for a day by a group of high school boys and girls as part of their program to learn about municipal government. Some of the bills they passed are worth consideration by their elders. They were unanimously in favor of a one term course in sex education in the junior or senior year. They wanted also personality training courses; periodic inspection of public toilets and aptitude tests every five years for school teachers.

With their own voting age only a few years off, such a day spent studying their city's operation, looks like the finest kind of educational procedure.

PRESIDENTS

Theodore Roosevelt, when President, was always being denounced for doing so many things. He had his hand in everything, and was always finding something new and unexpected to do.

President Truman, on the contrary, seems to initiate very few things, and holds back rather than pushes.

Teddy Roosevelt always knew what to do—or thought he did.

Mr. Truman is inclined to be uncertain as to courses of action.

Maybe what the nation needs is government by a couple of inspired twins, alternating in their jobs.

The housing shortage may even have made returned GI's think kindly of the foxholes they left behind them.

PATH OF GLORY

An American correspondent, Paul Belamy, after scanning the present European scene, makes this striking comment:

"The German countryside is as lovely as ever, and bloomed with a beauty which made the heart ache as we drove through the smiling land in the spring sunshine. The question constantly obtrudes as to what insanity suddenly seized the Germans, that they thought they were God, and so had to be put down by other nations of the world—and put down to utter ruin. They had everything that a nation could wish for, and they threw it all away."

It is the familiar story of envy, conquest, glory and ruin.

And now what other nation will proceed dumbly to follow the same course?

They say the movies are now 50 years old, and devotees say they've seen some lately that looked like it.

ENCOURAGING STRIKES

One good way to get more and bigger strikes is to have skyrocketing prices. With the cost of living going upward all the time,

It used to be that Vito Marcantonio of New York was the leader on the Left in the House of Representatives. He always had a speech ready on every subject and, either by accident or coincidence, his speeches were always identical with the editorial policy of the "Daily Worker." And those who were fighting Communism in America always watched Marc as a signboard of the Party Line.

But Marcantonio has been strangely silent during this session of the Congress. He has passed into the shadow. The blaze of the limelight is cast upon a new member of the House, Hugh De Lacy, who has an opinion on every subject and a speech for every occasion. And wonder of wonders, whether by accident or coincidence, whether by design or by some fatal infirmity, De Lacy speaks as the "Daily Worker" reads, time after time, including every twist and change of policy.

For instance, with astounding suddenness, De Lacy became the congressional expert on China and he, it was, who led the fight in Congress on General Pat Hurley, who was hurled out as our ambassador for saying what we now know to be the whole truth, and when the President sent General George Marshall there in Hurley's place, Brother De Lacy hit out at Marshall—not knowing, perhaps, or willfully forgetting that Marshall knows China well, having served there as a colonel in the 15th Infantry in Tientsin when Hugh De Lacy was knee-high to a pup.

To Hugh De Lacy is just a new congressman who makes a lot of noise. But De Lacy is more than that. He has had a very long and interesting career. For instance, during the Stalin-Hitler Alliance, he was a member of the National Council of the American Peace Mobilization, which picketed the White House and booted Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has now become a divine symbol to his former hangers-on. It was the American Peace Mobilization which declared in March, 1941, "An English victory will result in the same sort of imperialist, anti-democratic peace as will Nazi victory."

It was this organization that published a song, the chorus of which was "We will not be deceived. We damn near believed what he said. He said, 'I hate war' and so does Eleanor. But we won't be safe till everybody's dead."

Hugh De Lacy became the president of the Washington Commonwealth Foundation that fought conscription, which they described as a military dictatorship. Hugh De Lacy also became national chairman of the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, an auxiliary of the International Labor Defense which Attorney-General Biddle described as a legal aid to the Communist party. Biddle included among Communist organizations the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties of which De Lacy was a member of the executive committee. The record is long.

After a turbulent career at the University of Washington, Hugh De Lacy started a political career by being elected to the City Council of Seattle with the support of the Young Communist League. So brilliant was he, even in his youth, that he was chosen to deliver the keynote address at the Third Northern Congress Against War and Fascism held in Seattle in 1937. This organization was pledged to stoppages in war plants, interference with shipping and support of the peace policy of the Soviet Union.

Hugh De Lacy is now a member of the Democratic Party. He is a notable part of the leadership of an extremely vocal and effective Left Wing bloc of representatives who take a sharp pro-Russian position on all questions. Yet, in the 1940 Democratic convention, De Lacy was a delegate, he opposed Franklin D. Roosevelt as war monger. It was this same De Lacy who introduced a resolution in 1945 demanding that President Truman recall all U. S. troops, transports and supplies from China immediately, which would have impeded our position in Japan and opened China to conquest by Russia. It was Hugh De Lacy who on March 30 of this year disclosed to all the world what must be one of our most guarded national secrets, that the United States has a store of 1,500 atomic bombs and is making more.

FOOD ALLERGY

The four commonest foods causing allergy are eggs, milk, wheat and potatoes. Just why the majority of people can eat these four foods in any amount together with other "allergic" foods, and be free of symptoms while the minority must suffer with pain in stomach, head colds and weepy nose and eyes, is unknown. That heredity is one factor in allergy is, however, known. It has been found that where both parents were affected with allergy, the allergic symptoms in the child began before the first year in 36 per cent, whereas where only one parent had allergy 14 per cent were affected; and when neither parents had allergy only 5 per cent showed symptoms before the fifth year.

The point to remember is that as the food does not cause allergic symptoms in 4 of every 5 there must be something wrong with, or something different about the allergic individual's make-up, his tissues that prevents the proper or complete breakdown and use of the food, so that allergic symptoms—skin eruptions, head colds, stomach upsets—occur.

How can the allergic individual find out the exact foods causing the symptoms yet be able to eat enough food (free of offending foods) to maintain his strength?

Among the foods least likely to cause allergy symptoms as outlined by Dr. Alvarez and Hinshaw of the Mayo Clinic, are lamb, gelatin, cooked apples, beets, asparagus, turnips, arrow root biscuits, cooked pears, weak tea.

The foods most likely to cause allergic symptoms are onions, milk, cream, ice cream, raw apples, cooked cabbage, chocolate, radishes, raw tomatoes, greasy and rich foods, peanuts, oranges, fish, chicken, coffee, lettuce, pickles, melons, pork, cheese, fruits, nuts.

By eating the foods least likely to cause allergy and occasionally eating "one" of the foods most likely to do so, he may have an attack of allergy and by remembering foods eaten at last meal be able to locate the food causing the trouble. In this way he can gradually find that many of the "offending" foods do not cause symptoms and he can thus add variety to his daily food intake.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES PRICES

New York city, May 17—I am still optimistic as to stock market prices and believe that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average will go at least to 225 and perhaps 250. It is now about 207. The Combined Averages may lag in their upward movement due to investors switching wisely from rails to industrials. So much for stock prices.

Commodity Prices
My chief interest at the moment is in connection with commodity prices—that is, what readers must pay for food, clothing and shelter. I, hence, came over to New York, which is the central market for these basic commodities, to get the facts. There seems to be two schools of economic thought on the part of able-thinking men. This is wholly independent of the question of politics and not of economics.

The first school group—although they are in the minority—believe that we will have continuing high prices through 1946 and 1947 but that this rise will bring about a buyers' strike. This will be due partly to the fact that the great mass of people will then be cashed in such of their "E" bonds as they intend to sell, and partly to their determination to wait for lower prices. This may especially be true in the field of building. There is a limit to what people will pay for a new house.

Truth About Building

The National Housing Agency has just released a careful study on home building. They find that sections of the Pacific coast would cost $8,250 to build today. Houses under $6,000 have gone up 65 per cent and houses over $6,000 have gone up 57 per cent. In certain sections of the Pacific coast it is claimed that building has gone up 100 per cent. These increases are certainly out of line with the advance in other living costs which amount to only about 30 per cent.

Effect of Labor Unions
Over a long period, prices are determined by supply and demand. Even labor unions cannot do much to affect the long trend of prices. Improvements in the standard of living are due to increased production and new inventions rather than to labor unions. Over a short term, however, labor unions can greatly affect prices by raising wages, shortening hours and especially by slowing down "the number of bricks laid per hour. This is true today and will be in 1947 when labor unions may be in even a stronger bargaining position.

Most of those whom I interview belong to the second school of thought; they do not expect the price of commodities to rise slowly rising prices for some years. Most businessmen are now short of labor; over 2,000,000 more persons are employed today than a year ago. In some industries there exists a real shortage of labor. On the other hand, many lines of industry are running into a very competitive market. Many more concerns will be making every product than before the war. This should tend to keep down profits and make the price rise orderly.

My Personal Opinion

Food: Excepting a few products, such as fruit, dairy products, etc., there should be no increase in food prices after the Europeans get a good crop. Labor is returning to the farm, improved farm machinery will be on the market and—barring unreasonable weather conditions—there may soon be a surplus of crops and even lower prices.

Clothing and other consumer goods: Clothing prices will be higher. The industry is heavily unionized and the O.P.A. has been unfair to clothing manufacturers. There also is a shortage in other lines. With the exception of clothing, I expect only a moderate rise in prices of consumer goods.

Housing: The cost of building is high. The industry is heavily unionized and the O.P.A. has been unfair to building contractors. There is a shortage of labor in the building industry. I expect only a moderate rise in prices of consumer goods.

President Truman is Faced With Important Decision Regarding Continuance of Nation's Economic Operations
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 17—President Truman has to make a major decision soon—whether he will allow the economic system to become further demoralized or whether he will use the powers of his office and the statutes as he did during the war to insure a continuance of economic operations during the post-war period.

Britain legislated to retain her wartime controls for another five years because the conditions arising after V-J Day were deemed to be a part of or to be in direct consequence of the war itself. Mr. Truman has indicated to callers that he thinks the British were forced to do so. He wishes America had done the same thing.

Now the opportunity is presented for the President to insist that reconversion be regarded as of paramount necessity to the national welfare. He can, if he chooses, reinstitute wage and salary controls and maintain price controls under the second War Powers Act. Extensions required can be gotten from Congress if the President formulates an overall program and takes his case to the country.

What is needed is executive leadership. Congress would rather see the President take the initiative than to do so itself. The coming elections have confused the members somewhat, as was indicated by their failure to give the Selective Service system the authority it requested.

There has recently been little cooperation between the executive and legislative branches of the government, largely because Mr. Truman has endeavored just to "get along" with Congress. Presidents in recent years have been successful in getting legislation through the Senate and House only in proportion to their ability to persuade the country that it is necessary.

Naturally the country accepts the argument of a President when it has confidence in his judgment. Mr. Truman has allowed his hold on the country to be frittered away to some extent by his drifting policy on labor questions. He has hesitated—and it is said for political reasons—to put the weight of his office behind bills to curb the monopoly powers of labor unions and to penalize abuses of collective bargaining. If Mr. Truman permits the country to be injured by a drifting policy, he cannot expect to get supporters when he does cry "national disaster."

If Mr. Truman is thinking about

VETERAN'S, HERE'S YOUR HOUSING

Los Angeles has discovered a vast supply of housing space nobody quite realized existed—space held off the market by short-sighted O.P.A. pricing policies. It seems probable that every city has a similar untapped reservoir of housing.

A survey recently completed by the Apartment Association of Los Angeles county shows the 132,000 furnished apartments of the county occupied by only 228,827 persons, while the capacity of these units is 355,727. You could put 126,900 more people in the beds of these furnished apartments without crowding—and without driving a nail!

Tens of thousands of these units were constructed for four or six people. Fifty-seven thousand are occupied by one lone inhabitant each. If only fifty per cent of this space were filled to capacity it would house 11,185 more families of four persons each.

A comparable waste exists in the unfurnished apartments and rental houses and duplexes of the county. Burton E. Edwards, association secretary-manager, estimated that 350,000 to 400,000 more persons could move into the 136,000 unfurnished apartments and 250,000 rental houses and duplexes—likewise without crowding and without any construction work.

All told, space for half a million people is going begging in this county of 3,435,000 population. Figures released by the Los Angeles Regional Planning commission tend to confirm Edwards' findings. The commission reported April 24 that "despite the housing shortage, there are, on the average, no more people per dwelling unit now than in the pre-war year 1940." The average occupancy per dwelling unit was 3.05 then and remains 3.05.

Veterans, here's that dwelling unit you've been hunting. Just find a way to get the folks to move over and you'll have plenty of room. Not all the excess space can be used, of course, because you can't hope to fit every family of four into a rooming house. But get rid of the O.P.A. restrictions and free negotiations between landlords and tenants will put most of the people living into reasonably satisfactory living accommodations. Our housing was a problem, people were crowded when rental prices were frozen in 1942, and the problem is today; and the pressure in population in these four years—despite refugee infiltration—has not been enough to cause the acute shortage.

The answer is: people with inflated 1946 incomes are sprawling in luxurious space at 1942 rental rates. There are as keeps, and the veteran who has married in these four years and the family who has had to move, struggle to get under roofs. The Los Angeles survey shows that fewer persons occupy the 132,000 furnished apartments here today than in June, 1942, when twelve per cent of these establishments stood vacant.

Unknown Oceanic Layer Discovered In Navy Research

By FRANK CAREY

Washington, May 17 (AP)—A new secret of the deep—the existence of a hitherto-unknown oceanic layer suspended between the surface and floor of the Pacific—has been discovered by the Navy in the process of war research.

Discovery of the layer of water, apparently containing suspended material which renders it denser than water immediately above it and below it, has raised the possibility that similar phenomena may exist in other oceans of the world.

The significance to man of such a new feature in oceanography is not yet clear, because the characteristics of the layer have not yet been fully determined. But the Navy told a reporter today that studies are planned to determine whether there is any military significance to the finding.

That was the Navy's only comment in answer to questions whether such a layer might affect underwater navigation and communication, give faulty information to underwater range-finding instruments, or affect the course of subsurface missiles.

Discovered In Test
Existence of the layer, which is 300 miles wide and was found from 1,000 to 1,500 feet below the Pacific surface off the California coast, was detected by Navy scientists while testing special "sonar" equipment during the war. "Sonar" is a technique designed to detect and locate distant objects through the use of sound waves which are beamed out to be "echoed" back by the target, or obstruction they may encounter. Researches at the Navy's electronics laboratory of the University of California's Division of War Research at San Diego, found that the oceanic layer returned an underwater echo similar to, but not as strong, as that received from the ocean floor.

Various theories have been advanced by the Navy scientists as to what material within the layer causes the reflection of sound waves.

Speculation has been advanced that the echoes may be reflected by colloidal material suspended within the layer, or by minute marine life, such as plankton, a form of certain fish. Still another theory is that gas bubbles from marine life within the layer may cause the reflection.

Changes Depth

One characteristic of the new layer is that it changes its depth every 24 hours. It rises several hundred feet toward the surface each evening and sinks to greater depths in the morning.

The layer has been named the "Ecr Layer" after the initials of the scientists in charge of the research program.

They are Dr. C. F. Eyring, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Brigham Young University, Utah; Dr. R. J. Christensen, formerly of the San Mateo Junior College, California; and Dr. R. W. Raitt, formerly with the Geophysical Engineering Corporation, Pasadena, Calif.

Board Is Approved

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—General MacArthur today approved the establishment of an all-powerful Japanese economic stabilization board. He termed it "the first real attempt of the Japanese government to set up an organization capable of obtaining a degree of economic stability within the country and of reviving production." The board will control the over-all planning of Japanese economy and will have the power to insure that various government ministries carry out its policies.

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Laying down a new concept of international law, the 11-nation International Military Tribunal ruled today that Hideki Tojo and 27 other Japanese must face trial as accused war criminals.

Navy Is Interested In Dock Facilities, Chamber Reports

Third Naval District Has Contacted Oil Company; Group Is Appointed

The United States Navy definitely is interested in leasing or purchasing dock facilities in Kingston to be used in conjunction with the activation of Naval Reserve unit, the Chamber of Commerce announced today.

Third Naval District headquarters in New York city already has contacted a local oil company to investigate local facilities. Chamber Secretary Don Williams said. Acting upon the recommendation of Hermann Gottfried, of the New York Board of Water Supply, the district naval headquarters sent a representative to Kingston several days ago to inspect possible local sites. The inspecting officer is said to have made a very favorable report and the Navy is known to have started a preliminary investigation.

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday appointed a committee of three—James Dwyer, Raymond Garrahan and Secretary Don Williams—to cooperate with Mr. Gottfried in furthering Kingston's chances of securing a permanent dock site and vessel for Naval Reserve training program.

This group in all probability will be enlarged to include other members of the Chamber of Commerce and veterans. Meanwhile Mr. Gottfried is proceeding with plans for formal activation of the reserve. An organization meeting is scheduled Tuesday, May 21. Approximately 65 naval veterans attended a preliminary session early this week at the American Legion building.

Savings Bank Deposits Up $57 Million in April

A net gain in savings deposits of $57,884,162 for April is reported by the 131 New York State mutual savings banks. The total number of depositors served increased by 14,903 to another new high of 6,793,621.

Total deposits are the highest in history, having reached $8,560,399,039. At the same time activity in both dollar deposits and accounts continues at near peak level. Ratio of deposits to withdrawals was 1.25.

While the rate of gains in both savings accounts and deposits was lower than in April 1945, the gain in amount due depositors from April 1945 to April 1946 was over $1 billion and the gain in new accounts 262,162.

Sales of United States Savings Bonds and Stamps for April were $11,512,405.90.

Fuel Exhaustion Is Given as Cause of Army Plane Crash

Fairfax, Calif., May 17 (AP)—The crash of an Army B-17 which cost the lives of two airmen and injured seven others was unofficially charged to fuel exhaustion today as Fourth Air Force headquarters pressed an investigation.

The four-engine bomber, with a normal fuel capacity for a non-stop, transcontinental flight, crashed on a 400-mile hop 10 miles short of its destination at Hamilton Field early yesterday. The plane came from Clovis, N. M., and took off from Mines Field, Los Angeles, on the last lap of its flight.

A Fourth Air Force public relations officer said the bomber ran out of gas before it plummeted into a hillside three miles west of here. By radio the plane had reported to the Oakland airport it was running low on gas, and Fairfax residents said they heard the engines sputter before the crash.

Rescuers who cut through the fuselage with torches to reach five men trapped for several hours in the wreckage said it was "just about a miracle" that the seven injured men survived.

The dead were First Lt. Milton M. Souza, 25, son of Mrs. Josephine Souza, Santa Clara, Calif., and M/Sgt. Carl H. Nichols, son of John J. Nichols, of Clovis.

Reported seriously injured were Lt. Col. Russell M. Peters, Larchmont, N. Y., and Second Lt. Martin Hradisky, Ithaca, N. Y. Reported less seriously injured were First Lt. Joseph H. Rincon, San Francisco; M/Sgt. Carl H. Miller (no address given); First Lt. Warder H. Skaggs, Sanger, Calif.; S/Sgt. James O. Hutton (no address given); and First Lt. Richard C. Beach, Louisville, Ky.

The Army maintained secrecy in the investigation, with a cordon of military police around the wreckage. An Army spokesman said that, although the plane came from Clovis, B-17 training base, the atom bomb test to be held at Bikini, Atoll, the plane had no connection with plans for the test.

E. Smith State office building in Albany on this day prevents me from attending the ceremonies which will mark the resumption of ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff. Kingston's industrial progress has been adversely affected by reason of the suspension in 1943 of ferry service and likewise the communities in upper Dutchess county have been deprived of valuable educational, professional and cultural contacts with the historic city of Kingston. It goes without saying that the resumption of ferry service will result in substantial benefits to these communities. The New York State Bridge Authority has exerted its maximum efforts to carry out the law enacted in 1945 which provided for the establishment and resumption of ferry service. It is hoped that it will fill the immediate need of these communities. It may be that the near future will indicate the need of a bridge connecting Kingston with the communities in upper Dutchess county on the east shore of the Hudson river. As soon as adequate studies have been completed to determine the effect of the construction of the projected roadway, the matter of providing for the construction of a highway crossing for vehicular traffic connecting the city of Kingston on the west shore with the communities in upper Dutchess county on the east shore of the Hudson river will receive my most earnest and sympathetic consideration. I wish to extend to you and all those who have worked so hard for the establishment and resumption of ferry service my hearty felicitations and to assure you of my continued interest in this problem.

Indians Meet To Study Plan

Congress Morning Standard which commented: "The Mission's plan is a mending maze without direction, without finality and fully of pitfalls."

The pro-Congress Chronicle, in an editorial entitled "Good in Parts," criticized the plan for failing to set a definite date for independence while the Times of India commented: "India's supreme tragedy in recent years was the number of opportunities of honorable settlement which all parties missed. This is the final opportunity. To miss it would be a supreme disaster."

Sir Stafford Cripps, a member of the British Mission, who acted as principal spokesman at a press conference yesterday at which the delegation's proposal was outlined to reporters, declared: "If the plan is not accepted, no one can say how great will be the disturbances or how acute and long the suffering that will be self-inflicted on the Indian people. We are convinced that this statement offers an honorable and peaceful method to all parties."

accomplishing the plans of aggression and cloak Spain under a mask of neutrality—had for Germany much more meaning than openly bringing Spain into the war in the capacity of another ally. "In this case the defensive ability of Germany would have been appreciably reduced and Germany would have experienced a lack of modern armaments, foodstuffs and fuel, inasmuch as Germany would have had to take upon herself to supply all of this to Spain."

Krappe and Remer said the "Isabella Felix" plan was supposed to have been carried out in conjunction with a "Sea Lion" plan for the capture of the British Isles. The leading Spanish formulator was given as Col. Barroso, chief of operations of the general staff of the Spanish Army.

The Franco-appointed General Ascensio, who commanded a division in southern Spain, was quoted as telling Krappe's assistant that he could take the Rock of Gibraltar from the British in 20 minutes.

Higher Subsidies Are Recommended To Help Dairymen

Utica, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—A New York city consumer organization proposes increased milk subsidies as a means of raising returns to dairymen in the six states delivering milk to the metropolitan market.

Mrs. Jeanette Turner, executive secretary of the Consumers' Council of New York City, urged higher subsidies yesterday to help stabilize retail milk prices and, at the same time, give farmers pay incentive to maintain adequate supply.

Mrs. Turner testified at a hearing, now in its fourth day, on proposed amendments to the eight-year-old New York milk marketing order.

Dairymen in New York, Vermont and Pennsylvania were given a 70-cent per hundredweight subsidy for April milk deliveries and those in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Jersey, an 80-cent subsidy. The subsidy payments were in addition to a uniform April price of $3.39 a hundredweight.

Mrs. Turner declared consumers in lower income brackets were "unable to stand an increase in the retail price of milk" and added that "consideration of the public health must take precedence over everything else."

A previous witness, Dr. Leonard Spencer of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell, had suggested a 3 1/2 cents per quart increase in the retail price which, he said, would be neither "unreasonable nor unduly burdensome."

Great Grandmother Makes Plane Trip From Europe

New York, May 17 (AP)—The Kleiber family—three generations of it—fettled and worried at La Guardia Field yesterday while the airplane bringing great grandmother from Switzerland circled overhead for two hours and 35 minutes.

A traffic jam caused by rain and fog delayed the landing but the wheels of the big airliner finally touched the ground and Mrs. Hulda Kleiber, 73, of Basel, Switzerland, was reunited with her family yesterday.

"Everybody was sick coming over but me," she said to her son, Paul G. Kleiber of Congers, N. Y. "It was a shame too. The food was so good."

Other members of the family delegation were Kleiber's wife, Otalie; their sons, Paul, Jr., and Norman and his wife, Beatrice; a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Welchman, and their two children, Leane, 10, and Stephen, 7.

Mrs. Kleiber, who will make her home in Congers, was examined by a physician after the flight. Said he: "She's perfect."

"I am so an American"

You bet you are, Sonny—just as American as any kid in town. So hold on there. Don't let those tears break through.

The first deep hurt...the dismay...the bewilderment...caused by childish taunts of years ago are still recalled by many an adult American made to suffer because his religion, race or color differed from that of others.

And, too, many grown men and women remember with a feeling of shame some childish cruelty...some foolish act of prejudice...in which they played a part.

How senseless it seems in the face of the fact, so forcefully demonstrated, that men of different color, different creed—Catholics, Protestants and Jews—can live and fight and die as one.

How well we've learned that there was no right or wrong side of the tracks among a bomber's crew—no family trees in those rubber rafts—that every wound bled red, none blue!

These are truths important for us all to remember now that Victory has come—now that America once more knows peace and tastes the happiness of families re-united.

These are truths to be remembered always because they are the truths Americans worked for...fought for...died for!

These are truths to be remembered because these are truths certain people among us would have us forget—people who would substitute hate for understanding, bigotry for tolerance, oppression for freedom.

Let us put an end to their plans to destroy the democracy we cherish.

Let us never forget, not only how well we fought, but why we fought.

HASTE MAKES WASTE

Sumner Welles, usually pretty sane about foreign affairs, said a surprising thing in a recent broadcast. Criticizing the lack of action on the peace conference front, he seemed proud of the fact that although the Versailles treaty might be lacking in some respects, still, within nine months of the end of World War I peace had been concluded with all the nations of Europe. This time, after a year, no peace treaty has been signed with any European nation.

Is this to be deplored? Consider what happened after the first World War. The Versailles treaty and the peace settlements as a whole were what people nowadays would call "unrealistic."

Surely it is better to take a little time, to make haste slowly, to get the squabbles aired, to understand what we are doing, before making definite peace treaties.

When newspaper headlines deal with baseball and local improvements it is a sign that the world is mending.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION

The functions of the city council of Brooklyn, N. Y., were taken over for a day by a group of high school boys and girls as part of their program to learn about municipal government. Some of the bills they passed are worth consideration by their elders. They were unanimously in favor of a one term course in sex education in the junior or senior year. They wanted also personality training courses, periodic inspection of public toilets and aptitude tests every five years for school teachers.

With their own voting age only a few years off, such a day spent studying their city's operation, looks like the finest kind of educational procedure.

The dim-outs endured in this country lately have been dim-outs of the American spirit, which greatly needs revival.

PRESIDENTS

Theodore Roosevelt, when President, was always being denounced for doing so many things. He had his hand in everything, and was always finding something new and unexpected to do.

President Truman, on the contrary, seems to initiate very few things, and holds back rather than pushes.

Teddy Roosevelt always knew what to do—or thought he did.

Mr. Truman is inclined to be uncertain as to courses of action.

Maybe what the nation needs is government by a couple of inspired twins, alternating in their jobs.

The housing shortage may even have made returned GI's think kindly of the foxholes they left behind them.

PATH OF GLORY

An American correspondent, Paul Belamy, after scanning the present European scene, makes this striking comment:

"The German countryside is as lovely as ever, and bloomed with a beauty which made the heart ache as we drove through the smiling land in the spring sunshine. The question constantly obtrudes as to what insanity suddenly seized the Germans, that they thought they were God, and so had to be put down by other nations of the world—and put down to utter ruin. They had everything that a nation could wish for, and they threw it all away."

It is the familiar story of envy, conquest, glory and ruin.

And now what other nation will proceed dumbly to follow the same course?

They say the movies are now 50 years old, and devotees say they've seen some lately that looked like it.

ENCOURAGING STRIKES

One good way to get more and bigger strikes is to have skyrocketing prices. With the cost of living going upward all the time, are as much a pair as ham and eggs.

'These Days'

It used to be that Vito Marcantonio of New York was the leader on the Left in the House of Representatives. He always had a speech ready on every subject and, either by accident or coincidence, his speeches were always identical with the editorial policy of the "Daily Worker." And those who were fighting Communism in America always watched Marc as a signboard of the Party Line.

But Marcantonio has been strangely silent during this session of the Congress. He has passed into the shadow. The blaze of the limelight is cast upon a new member of the House, Hugh De Lacy, who has an opinion on every subject and a speech for every occasion. And wonder of wonders, whether by accident or coincidence, whether by design or by some fateful opportunity, De Lacy speaks as the "Daily Worker" speaks, time after time, including every twist and change of policy.

For instance, with astounding suddenness, De Lacy became the congressional expert on China and he, it was, who led the fight in Congress on General Pat Hurley, who was hurled out as our ambassador for saying what we now know to be the whole truth, and when the President sent General George Marshall there in Hurley's place, Brother De Lacy hit out at Marshall—not knowing, perhaps, or willfully forgetting that Marshall knows China well, having served there as colonel in the 15th Infantry in Tientsin when Hugh De Lacy was knee-high to a pup.

To many, Hugh De Lacy is just a new congressman who makes a lot of noise. But De Lacy is more than that. He has had a very long and interesting career. For instance, during the Stalin-Hitler Alliance, he was a member of the National Council of the American Peace Mobilization, which picked the White House and booted Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has now become a divine symbol to his former boogymen. It was the American Peace Mobilization which declared in March, 1941:

"An English victory will result in the same sort of imperialist, anti-democratic peace as will Nazi victory."

It was this organization that published a song, the chorus of which was:

"Oh Franklin Roosevelt told the people how he felt
We damn near believed what he said.
He said, 'I hate war' and so does Eleanor,
But we won't hate war till everybody's dead."

Hugh De Lacy became the president of the Washington Commonwealth Federation that fought desecration, which they described as a military dictatorship. Hugh De Lacy also became national chairman of the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, an auxiliary of the International Labor Defense which Attorney General Biddle described as a legal arm of the Communist party. Biddle included among Communist organizations the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties which De Lacy was a member of the executive committee. The record is long.

After a turbulent career at the University of Washington, Hugh De Lacy started his political career by being elected to the City Council of Seattle with the support of the Young Communist League. So brilliant was he, even in his youth, that he was chosen to deliver the keynote address at the Third Northwest Congress Against War and Fascism held in Seattle in 1937. This organization was pledged to stoppages in war plants, interference with shipping and support of the peace policy of the Soviet Union.

Hugh De Lacy is now a member of the Democratic Party. He is listed in Congress as a Democrat and he plays a notable part as the leader of an extremely vocal and effective Left Wing of representatives who take a sharp pro-Russian position on all questions. Yet, in the 1940 Democratic Convention, to which De Lacy was a delegate, he opposed Franklin D. Roosevelt as a warmonger. It was the same De Lacy who introduced a resolution in 1945 demanding that President Truman recall all U. S. troops, transports and supplies from China immediately, which would have been a very bold move in Japan and opened China to conquest by Russia. It was Hugh De Lacy who on March 30 of this year disclosed to all the world what must be one of our most guarded national secrets, that the United States has a store of 1,500 atomic bombs and is making more.

FOOD ALLERGY

The four commonest foods causing allergy are eggs, milk, wheat and potatoes. Just why the majority of people can eat these four foods in any amount together with other "allergic" foods, and be free of symptoms while the minority must suffer with pain in stomach, head colds and weepy nose and eyes, is unknown. That heredity is one factor in allergy is, however, known. It has been found that where both parents were affected with allergy, the fifth year in 36 per cent, whereas where only one parent had allergy 14 per cent were affected; and when neither parents had allergy only 5 per cent showed symptoms before the fifth year.

The first point to remember is that as the food does not cause allergic symptoms in 4 of every 5 eating it, nothing can be wrong with the food itself; there must be something wrong with, or something different about the allergic individual's make-up, his tissues that prevents the proper or complete breakdown and use of the food, so that allergic symptoms—skin eruptions, head colds, stomach upsets—occur.

How can the allergic individual find out what foods cause the symptoms yet be able to eat his food (free of offending foods) to maintain his strength?

Among the foods least likely to cause allergy symptoms as outlined by Drs. Alvarez and Hershaw of the Mayo Clinic, are lamb, gelatin, cooked apples, beef, asparagus, turnips, arrow root biscuits, cooked pears, weak tea.

The foods most likely to cause allergic symptoms are onions, milk, cream, ice cream, raw apples, cooked cabbage, chocolate, radishes, raw tomatoes, greasy and rich foods, peanuts, oranges, fish, chicken, coffee, lettuce, pickles, melons, pork, cheese, nuts.

By eating the foods least likely to cause allergy and occasionally eating "one" of the foods most likely to do so, he may have an attack of allergy and by remembering foods eaten at just meal be able to locate the food causing the trouble. In this way he can gradually find out what the "offending" foods do not cause symptoms and he can thus add variety to his daily food list.

Send today for Dr. Barton's helpful booklet entitled "Allergy" which means being allergic or sensitive to various foods and other substances. Just 10 cents and a three-cent stamp to cover cost of handling and mailing and send it to: Dr. Barton, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

workers would demand higher wages and strike to get them. Then would follow higher prices to meet the increased wages, and next more strikes. In fact, inflation and strikes are as much a pair as ham and eggs.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES PRICES

New York city, May 17—I am still optimistic as to stock market prices and believe that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average will go at least to 225 and perhaps 250. It is now about 207. The Combined Averages may lag in their upward movement due to investors switching wisely from rails to industrials. So much for stock prices.

Commodity Prices
My chief interest at the moment is in connection with commodity prices—that is what readers must pay for food, clothing and shelter. I, hence, came over to New York, which is the central market for these basic commodities, to get the facts. There seems to be two schools of economic thought on the part of able-thinking men. One school believes that the price of living is due to increased production and new inventions rather than to labor unions. Over a short term, however, labor unions can greatly affect prices by raising wages, shortening hours and especially by slowing down the number of bricks laid and the number of bolts tightened per hour. This is true today and will be in 1947 when labor unions may be in even a stronger bargaining position.

Most of those whom I interviewed belong to the second school of thought; they do not expect the buyers' strike but rather slowly rising prices for some years to come. Most businessmen are now short of labor; over 2,000,000 men and women are employed today than a year ago. In some industries there exists a real shortage of labor. On the other hand, many lines of industry are running into a very competitive market. Many more goods are being produced than before the war. This should tend to keep down prices and make the price rise slowly.

My Personal Opinion
Food: Excepting a few products, such as fruit, dairy products, etc., there should be no increase in food prices after the Europeans get a good crop. Labor is returning to the farm, improved farm machinery will be on the market, and—barring unreasonable weather conditions—there may soon be a surplus of crops and even lower prices.

Clothing and other consumer goods: Clothing prices will be higher. The industry is heavily unionized and the O.P.A. has been unfair to clothing manufacturers. There also is a shortage in other lines. With the exception of clothing I expect only a moderate rise in prices of consumer goods. Minimum wages above 50 cents per hour. There, however, should be a small, but gradual, increase in the prices of consumer goods for some time to come.

Housing: The cost of building will continue to increase until there is either a buyers' strike or the unions permit reasonable building codes and the use of modern methods such as paint spraying, etc. At the moment, the building trade unions have the American people by the throat. Someday they will regret their present foolish actions.

Effect of Labor Unions
Over a long period, prices are determined by supply and demand. Even labor unions cannot do much to affect the long trend of prices. Improvements in the standard of living are due to increased production and new inventions rather than to labor unions.

Truth About Building
The National Housing Agency has just released a careful study on home building. They find that a house which would have cost $5,000 to build six years ago would cost $8,250 to build today. Houses under $6,000 have gone up 65 per cent and houses over $6,000 have gone up 57 per cent. In certain sections of the Pacific Coast it is claimed that building has gone up 100 per cent. These increases are certainly out of line with the advance in other living costs which amount to only about 30 per cent.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The question of permitting the showing of movies in Kingston on Sundays was again brought up at the meeting of the Common Council on August 21, 1928, when the city fathers by a vote of 7 to 6 adopted the ordinance prohibiting the showing of movies on Sundays. The ordinance was passed by a narrow margin, and the city fathers have since then been in a constant struggle to keep the ordinance in force.

The vote was taken after a long and heated discussion. The city fathers were divided into two camps. One camp, led by Mayor E. J. Dempsey, argued that the ordinance was necessary to protect the city's reputation and to prevent the city from becoming a "red-light district." The other camp, led by Bernard J. Donovan, argued that the ordinance was unnecessary and that the city should allow the showing of movies on Sundays.

The ordinance was passed by a narrow margin, and the city fathers have since then been in a constant struggle to keep the ordinance in force. The city fathers have held many meetings to discuss the ordinance, and they have also held many hearings to hear the arguments of the people who are interested in the ordinance.

President Truman Is Faced With Important Decision Regarding Continuance of Nation's Economic Operations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 17—President Truman has to make a major decision soon—whether he will allow the economic system to become further demoralized or whether he will use the powers of his office and the statutes as he did during the war to insure a continuance of economic operations during the post-war period.

Britain indicated to retain her wartime controls for another five years because the conditions arising after V-J Day were deemed to be a part of or to be in direct consequence of the war itself. Mr. Truman has indicated to callers that he thinks the British were foresighted and that he wishes America had done the same thing.

Now the opportunity is presented for the President to insist that recovery be regarded as of paramount necessity to the national welfare. He can, if he chooses, reinstitute wage and salary controls and maintain price controls under the second War Powers Act. Extensions required can be gotten from Congress if the President formulates an overall program and takes his case to the country.

What is needed is executive leadership. Congress would rather see the President take the initiative than to do so itself. The coming elections have confused the members somewhat, as was indicated by their failure to give the Selective Service system the authority it requested.

There has recently been little cooperation between the executive and legislative branches of the government, largely because Mr. Truman has endeavored just to "get along with Congress." Presidents in recent years have been successful in getting legislation through the Senate and House only in proportion to their ability to persuade the country that it is necessary.

Naturally the country accepts the argument of a President when it has confidence in his judgment. Mr. Truman has allowed his hold on the country to be frittered away to some extent by his drift on policy on labor questions. He has hesitated—and it is said for political reasons—to put the weight of his office behind bills to curb the monopoly powers of labor unions and to penalize abuses of collective bargaining. If Mr. Truman permits the country to be injured by a drifting policy, he cannot expect to get supporters when he does cry "national disaster."

If Mr. Truman is thinking about it.

Albany, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—Registrars of New York state's colleges and universities meet in Albany today to formulate admission procedures in the veterans' expansion program. Dr. John S. Allen, director of the State Education Department, said the conference would "iron out the details of admitting 60,000 or more veterans in the fall to colleges, extension centers and temporary colleges at military installations."

VETERAN'S, HERE'S YOUR HOUSING

Los Angeles has discovered a vast supply of housing space nobody quite realized existed—space held off the market by short-sighted O.P.A. pricing policies. It seems probable that every city has a similar untapped reservoir of housing.

A survey recently completed by the Apartment Association of Los Angeles county shows the 132,000 furnished apartments of this county occupied by only 228,827 persons. The capacity of these units is 353,727. You could put 126,900 more people in the beds of these furnished apartments without crowding—and without driving a nail!

Tens of thousands of these units were constructed for four or six people. Fifty-seven thousand are occupied by one lone inhabitant. If only fifty per cent of this space were filled to capacity it would house 11,185 more families of four persons each.

A comparable waste exists in the unfurnished apartments, the rental houses and duplexes of the county. Burton E. Edwards, association secretary-manager, estimated that 350,000 to 400,000 more persons could move into the 136,000 furnished apartments and 250,000 rental houses and duplexes—without crowding and without any construction work.

All told, space for half a million people is going begging in this county of 3,435,000 population. Figures released by the Los Angeles Regional Planning commission tend to confirm Edwards' findings. The commission reported April 24 that "despite the housing shortage, there are, on the average, no more people per dwelling unit now than in the prewar years 1940." The average occupancy per dwelling unit was 3.05 and remains 3.05.

Veterans, here's that dwelling unit you've been hunting. Just find a way to get the folks to move over and you'll have plenty of room. Not all the excess space can be used, of course, because you can't hope to fit every family to the apartment. But get rid of the O.P.A. Restrictions, and free negotiations between landlords and tenants will put most of the people back into reasonably satisfactory living accommodations. Our housing was a problem. Our people were crowded when rental prices were frozen in 1942, but no such problem as today; and the increase in population in these four years—despite refugee infiltration—has not been enough to cause the acute shortage.

The answer is: people with inflated 1946 incomes are crawling in luxurious space at 1942 rental rates. Then as the war ends, these four years and the family who has had to move, struggle to get under roofs. The Los Angeles survey shows that fewer persons are crowded into the same space as in 1942, when twelve per cent of these establishments stood vacant!

Remove rent controls, let rents find their legitimate level in comparison with other costs, and much of this needless vacancy will fill up. Landlords for three years have asked O.P.A. to establish a workable schedule of prices designed to get more people back into existing housing. They wanted the agency to invoke a regulation—Section 3-A8 of the rental code—which permits owners to charge a few dollars more per person above an O.P.A. base rate. Under this regulation a four-person apartment renting at $50 a month base rate would bring about $60 if filled to capacity. O.P.A. has permitted such pricing on a scale too limited to accomplish the aim. It's too late now. To reclaim much of the waste space under this plan landlords would have to have permission to evict a small family in order to install a large one. O.P.A. has no such authority.

Of course, to grant the agency such authority would make it more the dictator than the peacemaker, and to get the job done O.P.A. would have to allow landlords more money and also begin pushing tenants around.

Which would be better—or should I say worse?—for O.P.A. to continue to keep tens of thousands of families squatting in packing boxes, crowding in trailer houses, living in sunless basements and batheless garages, or to force tenants to move over and share the space? It's your choice. The free way would be better.

And while Congress debates whether to trim O.P.A.'s whip or continue to permit its business-busting totalitarianism, 3000 furnished apartments in this city are boarded up. An official of the Los Angeles Realty Board said landlords simply "can't take it any longer"—meaning O.P.A. star-chamber justice and red tape over and over again. The situation here may not be exactly typical, but there can't be much difference in the overall picture, which means that the under-occupied dwelling units in the United States run into millions. Homeless families can charge this condition to our nation's price-fixing dictatorship.

On the other side of the picture, landlords are in need of price relief. Traditionally the landlord is unmoved, but O.P.A. has made him its favorite whipping boy, and it seems to me time is long overdue for us to rescue him. He has been unable to get repairs accomplished for four or five years, and for repairs he must now pay through the nose. Still O.P.A. refuses to make rental rate adjustments to allow a mathematical formula, they say.

Two Cars Damaged In Local Collision

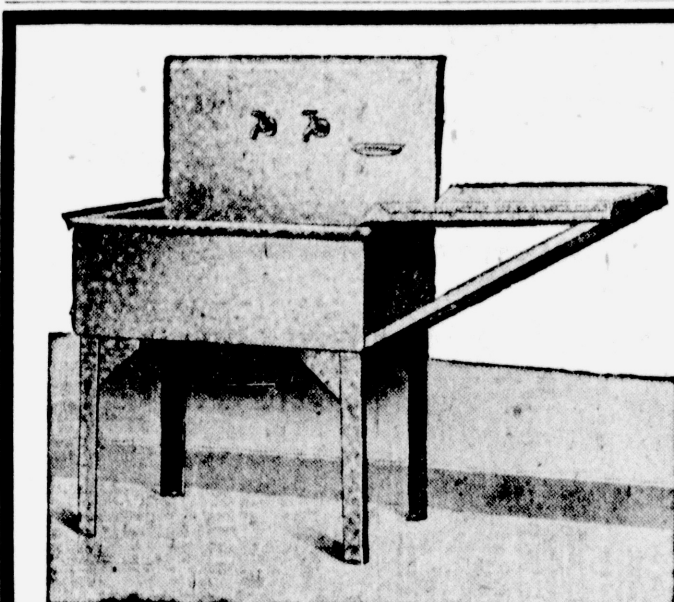

Two automobiles were damaged but no personal injuries were reported in a collision on Wurts street on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, according to a police report.

Hugh Leroy Monteith of Sterling, N. J., was driving south on Wurts street behind a milk truck, and when near West Union street the truck driver applied the brakes and Monteith to avoid ramming the rear of the truck pulled to the left and was in collision with an auto driven by Gertrude A. Reis of Port Ewen, which was going north.

Mrs. Roosevelt Is To Speak at Bard College Exercises

Commencement Program To Feature Memorial Services for Those Killed in War

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., May 17—Bard College's commencement program, which will feature Eleanor Roosevelt as the principal speaker, was announced today by the college's president, Charles Harold Gray. The exercises will be held at 2:30 p. m., on Memorial Day at Bard, which is located 20 miles from Mrs. Roosevelt's home at Hyde Park and which once had President Roosevelt as a member of its board of trustees.

The program will also include memorial services for alumni and students killed during the war and the dedication of a student-designed war memorial.

It will be the first formal commencement at the college since December, 1942, when the first winter ceremonies were held as a result of the war-accelerated program. It will also be the first time Bard has issued its bachelor of arts degrees independently, having been a part of Columbia University from 1928 to 1944 after having been founded at St. Stephen's College in 1860.

First Female to Graduate

Among the graduating class of 16 students will be Carole Wagner of New York city, the first female student to be accepted by the college when it became coeducational in 1944. There will be four other coeds among the graduates. Although the present enrollment of 210 students is the largest in the 86-year history of the college, the explanation for the graduating class being one of the smallest is, according to college authorities, that male students had their education interrupted by the war and that female students, with the exception of those who transferred from other colleges, were all freshmen and sophomores.

More than two-thirds of the present male student enrollment at Bard is composed of veterans, and plans are under way to increase the capacity for housing qualified students wishing to attend the college under the G.I. Bill of Rights. With a grant of $27,500 from the state, to be used in remodeling a former fraternity house which has been given to the college and in preparation of additional room for veterans, and with the installation of 15 family units to be supplied by the Federal Housing Authority, it is expected that Bard will be able to accommodate 250 students in the fall.

The baccalaureate and memorial service will be held in the college chapel on Wednesday, May 29, at 5 p. m., according to President Gray's announcement. The annual dinner and dance for seniors will be held in the evening. On Thursday morning there will be additional chapel services, a meeting of the board of trustees, and a faculty-student recital in Bard Hall. The procession will start at 2:15 p. m., with the college president opening the commencement exercises at 2:30 p. m. Following Mrs.

Roosevelt's address, President Gray will announce the prizes and the degrees will be conferred upon the graduates.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Uninvited Guests
Seattle, May 17 (AP)—James H. Sim, San Francisco, boatswain of the liberty ship Allen C. Balch, slipped away to a justice of the peace with bride-to-be Josephine Chappo of Portland for a "quiet" wedding.
But they found that the ship's crew had beaten them there and formed a wedding arch—with chipping hammers and marlin spikes. The couple dashed away amid a shower of rice and a promise from the crew that their honeymoon destination was no secret, either — "and we're all going along."

Numbers Mixup
Mankato, Minn., May 17 (AP)—A woman motorist, in traffic court on a charge of speeding, interrupted a policeman who testified she had been driving 55 miles an hour.
"Fifty-five?" questioned the motorist. "Not me. I was hitting 60."
"I'll make it fifteen," broke in the judge. "That is fifteen dollars."

Big Haul
Canton, Ill., May 17 (AP)—Sheriff Harold L. Ellsworth is on the prowl for the thief who stole a barn—or what was left of it.
Ellsworth bought the barn and had it razed, and planned to remove the lumber. But when he returned the next day, everything was gone.

Love Thy Neighbor
Lewistown, Mont., May 17 (AP)—Residents of a fashionable district objected vociferously when they saw some one had moved in an unpainted shack.
Plans to invoke zoning laws were abandoned when the shack's owner placed this sign in a window: "This house being remodeled for a G. I. Joe who spent five years in service and 2½ in the south Pacific."
Neighbors now are helping Joe with hammers and saws.

Unknown Oceanic Layer Discovered In Navy Research

By FRANK CAREY

Washington, May 17 (AP)—A new secret of the deep—the existence of a hitherto-unknown oceanic layer suspended between the surface and floor of the Pacific—has been discovered by the Navy in the process of war research.

Discovery of the layer of water, apparently containing suspended material which renders it denser than water immediately above it and below it, has raised the possibility that similar phenomena may exist in other oceans of the world.

The significance to man of such a new feature in oceanography is not yet clear, because the characteristics of the layer have not yet been fully determined. But the Navy told a reporter today that studies are planned to determine whether there is any military significance to the finding.

That was the Navy's only comment in answer to questions whether such a layer might affect underwater navigation and communication, give faulty information to underwater range-finding instruments, or affect the course of subsurface missiles.

Discovered in Test

Existence of the layer, which is 300 miles wide and was found from 1,000 to 1,500 feet below the Pacific surface off the California coast, was detected by Navy scientists while testing special "sonar" equipment during the war. "Sonar" is a technique designed to detect and locate distant objects through the use of sound waves which are beamed out to be "echoed" back by the target, or obstruction they may encounter.

Researches at the Navy's electronics laboratory of the University of California's Division of War Research at San Diego, found that the oceanic layer returned an underwater echo similar to, but not as strong, as that received from the ocean floor.

Various theories have been advanced by the Navy scientists as to what material within the layer causes the reflection of sound waves.

Speculation has been advanced that the echoes may be reflected by colloidal material suspended within the layer, or by minute marine life, such as plankton, a food of certain fish. Still another theory is that gas bubbles from marine life within the layer may cause the reflection.

Changes Depth

One characteristic of the new layer is that it changes its depth every 24 hours. It rises several hundred feet toward the surface each evening and sinks to greater depths in the morning.

The layer has been named the "Er Layer" after the initials of the scientists in charge of the research program.

They are Dr. C. F. Eyring, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Brigham Young University, Utah; Dr. R. J. Christensen, formerly of the San Mateo Junior College, California; and Dr. R. W. Pait, formerly with the Geophysical Engineering Corporation, Pasadena, Calif.

Board Is Approved

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—General MacArthur today approved the establishment of an all-powerful Japanese economic stabilization board. He termed it "the first real attempt of the Japanese government to set up an organization capable of obtaining a degree of economic stability within the country and of reviving production." The board will control the over-all planning of Japanese economy and will have the power to insure that various government ministries carry out its policies.

Must Face Trial

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Laying down a new concept of international law, the 11-nation International Military Tribunal ruled today that Hideki Tojo and 27 other Japanese must face trial as accused war criminals.

Navy Is Interested In Dock Facilities, Chamber Reports

Third Naval District Has Contacted Oil Company Group To Appointed

The United States Navy definitely is interested in leasing or purchasing dock facilities in Kingston to be used in conjunction with the activation of Naval Reserve unit, the Chamber of Commerce announced today.

Third Naval District headquarters in New York city already has contacted a local oil company to investigate local facilities, Chamber Secretary Don Williams said. Acting upon the recommendation of Hermann Gottfried, of the New York Board of Water Supply, the district naval headquarters sent a representative to Kingston several days ago to inspect possible local sites. The inspecting officer is said to have made a very favorable report and the Navy is known to have started a preliminary investigation.

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday appointed a committee of three—James Dwyer, Raymond Garrahan and Secretary Don Williams—to cooperate with Mr. Gottfried in furthering Kingston's chances of securing a permanent dock site and vessel for Naval Reserve training program.

This group in all probability will be enlarged to include other members of the Chamber of Commerce and veterans.

Meanwhile Mr. Gottfried is proceeding with plans for formal activation of the reserve. An organization meeting is scheduled Tuesday, May 21. Approximately 65 naval veterans attended a preliminary session early this week at the American Legion building.

Lay It to Marshall

Nanking, May 17 (AP)—The Chinese government's Central Daily News today asserted it was General Marshall who proposed that the Communists vacate Changchun before discussing the Manchurian problem as a whole. Marshall, President Truman's envoy to China, declined to comment.

Sources close to him said he merely had relayed Chiang Kai-Shek's own wishes to the Communists in his role as mediator.

Building Costs

Fuel Exhaustion Is Given as Cause of Army Plane Crash

Fairfax, Calif., May 17 (AP)—The crash of an Army B-17 which cost the lives of two airmen and injured seven others was unofficially charged to fuel exhaustion today by Fairfax Air Force headquarters, pressed an investigation.

The four-engine bomber, with a normal fuel capacity for a non-stop, transcontinental flight, crashed on a 400-mile hop 10 miles short of its destination at Hamilton Field early yesterday. The plane came from Clovis, N. M., and took off from Mines Field, Los Angeles, on the last lap of its flight.

A Fourth Air Force public relations officer said the bomber ran out of gas before it plummeted into a hillside three miles west of here. By radio the plane had reported to the Oakland airport it was running low on gas, and Fairfax residents said they heard the engines sputter before the crash.

Rescuers who cut through the fuselage with torches to reach five men trapped for several hours in the wreckage said it was "just about a miracle" that the seven injured men survived.

The dead were First Lt. Milton M. Souza, 25, son of Mrs. Josephine Souza, Santa Clara, Calif., and M/Sgt. E. B. Nichols, son of John J. Nichols, of Clovis.

Reported seriously injured were Lt. Col. Russell M. Peters, Larchmont, N. Y., and Second Lt. Martin Hradsky, Ithaca, N. Y. Reported less seriously injured were First Lt. Joseph H. Rincon, San Francisco; M/Sgt. Carl H. Miller (no address given); First Lt. Warder H. Skaggs, Sanger, Calif.; S/Sgt. James O. Hutton, (no address given); and First Lt. Richard C. Beach, Louisville, Ky.

The Army maintained secrecy in the investigation, with a cordon of military police around the wreckage. An Army spokesman said that, although the plane came from Clovis, B-17 training base for the atom bomb test, to be held at Bikini, Atoll, the plane had no connection with plans for the test.

Dewey Says Near Future May Decide Two-County Span Group to Be Picked

E. Smith State office building in Albany on this day prevents me from attending the ceremonies which will mark the resumption of ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff. Kingston's industrial progress has been adversely affected by reason of the suspension in 1943 of ferry service and likewise the communities in upper Dutchess county have been deprived of valuable educational, professional and cultural contacts with the historic city of Kingston.

It goes without saying that the resumption of ferry service will result in substantial benefits to these communities. The New York State Bridge Authority has exerted its maximum efforts to carry out the law enacted in 1945 which provided for the establishment and resumption of ferry service.

It is hoped that it will fill the immediate need of these communities. It may be that the near future will indicate the need of a bridge connecting Kingston with the communities in upper Dutchess county on the east shore of the Hudson river. As soon as adequate studies have been completed to determine the effect of the construction of the projected thruway, the matter of providing for the construction of a highway crossing for vehicular traffic connecting the city of Kingston on the west shore with the communities in upper Dutchess county on the east shore of the Hudson river will receive my most earnest and sympathetic consideration. I wish to extend to you and all those who have worked so hard for the establishment and resumption of ferry service my hearty felicitations and to assure you of my continued interest in this problem.

Indians Meet To Study Plan

Congress Morning Standard which commented: "The Mission's plan is a meandering maze without direction, without finality and fully of pitfalls."

The pro-Congress Chronicle, in an editorial entitled "Good in Paris," criticized the plan for failing to set a definite date for independence while the Times of India commented: "India's supreme tragedy in recent years was the number of opportunities of honorable settlement which all parties missed. This is the final opportunity. To miss it would be a supreme disaster."

Sir Stafford Cripps, a member of the British Mission, who acted as principal spokesman at a press conference yesterday at which the delegation's proposal was outlined to reporters, declared:

"If the plan is not accepted, no one can say how great will be the disturbances or how acute and long the suffering that will be self-inflicted on the Indian people. We are convinced that this statement offers an honorable and peaceful method to all parties."

accomplishing the plans of aggression and cloak Spain under a mask of neutrality—had for Germany much more meaning than openly bringing Spain into the war in the capacity of another ally.

"In this case the defensive ability of Germany would have been appreciably reduced and Germany would have experienced a lack of modern armaments, foodstuffs and fuel, inasmuch as Germany would have had to take upon herself to supply all of this to Spain."

Krappe and Remer said the "Isabella Felix" plan was supposed to have been carried out in conjunction with a "See Lion" plan for the capture of the British Isles. The leading Spanish formulator was given as Col. Barosso, chief of operations of the general staff of the Spanish Army.

The Franco-appointed General Ascensio, who commanded a division in southern Spain, was quoted as telling Krappe's assistant that he could take the Rock of Gibraltar from the British in 20 minutes.

Higher Subsidies Are Recommended To Help Dairymen

Utica, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—A New York city consumer organization proposes increased milk subsidies as a means of raising returns to dairymen in the six states delivering milk to the metropolitan market.

Mrs. Jeannette Turner, executive secretary of the Consumers' Council of New York City, urged higher subsidies yesterday to help stabilize retail milk prices and, at the same time, give farmers pay incentive to maintain adequate supply.

Mrs. Turner testified at a hearing, now in its fourth day, on proposed amendments to the eight-year-old New York milk marketing order.

Dairymen in New York, Vermont and Pennsylvania were given a 70-cent per hundredweight subsidy for April milk deliveries and those in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Jersey, an 80-cent subsidy. The subsidy payments were in addition to a uniform April price of $3.39 a hundredweight.

Mrs. Turner declared consumers in lower income brackets were "unable to stand an increase in the retail price of milk" and added that "consideration of the public health must take precedence over everything else."

A previous witness, Dr. Leonard Spencer of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell, had suggested a 3 1/2 cents per quart increase in the retail price which, he said, would be neither "unreasonable nor unduly burdensome."

Mansion Tours Feature Opening Day of First Dutch Church Fair

One of the feature attractions opening day of the Dutch Fair of the First Dutch Reformed Church will be tours through the Van Leuven Mansion, corner Wall and Main streets. The fair will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday with special events listed each day. The mansion tours will be conducted under the auspices of the Eendracht Guild of the church Wednesday afternoon and evening. A nominal admission charge will be made.

The house was built in 1784 by John Suydam, early senator of New York state. Following his death it served as Republican headquarters for the town and later was purchased by the Van Leuven family. The house today stands restored and furnished as closely as possible to what it might have been at the time it was built, when it was considered a show place.

The house contains the original slave kitchen with its old Dutch ovens. This room is furnished with interesting kitchen utensils and early pine furniture. The room is filled with 17th century Hudson Valley furniture including a chair which belonged to Peter Vanderlyn, first portrait painter in New York state and great grandfather of John Vanderlyn, famous early American artist.

The mahogany dining room is furnished with American Hepplewhite furniture with a sideboard that belonged to the first governor of Vermont, over which hangs a portrait by John Trumbull. The library is furnished in New York and Philadelphia Chippendale furniture with a 17th century cabinet and a portrait by John Vanderlyn of Charles Wadsworth who was the builder of the Catskill Mountain House. One of the most notable specimens in this room is a serpentine front secretary made by John Goddard in Newport, R. I., about 1760.

Opposite the library is the Windsor Dining Room with a collection of Windsor chairs and a clock which was the wedding gift to David Schuyler, an early mayor of Albany. Hanging in this room is a portrait of Stephen Van Rensselaer painted by Peter Vanderlyn about 1710.

On the second floor in a room amusingly known as the Strawberry Patch because of the strawberry motif on the wall paper and draperies is a collection of Queen Anne furniture and an applied counterpane displaying nine American eagles. Opposite this room is the Garden Bedroom which is furnished in New York State Sheraton furniture, including a tester bed and a clock by Aaron Willard.

Leaving this room and going through the maple hall in which is found a curly maple Queen Anne Highboy and some other choice examples of curly maple, one enters into the McIntire Bedroom with a bed made by this cabinet-maker which is still draped in its original raspberry red toile du jour.

Opposite this room is perhaps the most historically connected room in the house. It is known as the Lafayette room because Lafayette, as well as, Martin Van Buren and Washington Irving have slept in this room. It is furnished with a collection of Queen Anne furniture with a linen depicting George Washington being drawn in a chariot by two English lions. There is also a collection of Bristol and Lambert delft. In this room hang two engravings by John Trumbull which were struck by the artist for a series of which two are now in Mount Vernon.

On the top floor is the China Hall with its collection of historic blue Staffordshire and early blue glass; a curly maple bed room which contains a chair which once belonged to Sir William Johnson of French and Indian War fame; together with several fine ship models. Off this room is the Pennsylvania decorated sitting room.

SKIRT LENGTHS AT WEDDING RECEPTION

The mother of the bridegroom asks: "Is it necessary that I wear the same length skirt as that worn by the bride's mother? We are wearing dinner dresses and I know hers has a floor-length skirt, just the type of thing I have no use for!"

If you are receiving in different parts of the room or if the room is small and, therefore, will be very crowded, the differences in the length of the skirt will not matter. If you are standing together with plenty of space around you and the difference in skirt is noticeable, it would be well if you could get a dress with a long skirt that can be cut off afterwards. If this is not possible, then my advice is to wear what you must and not worry about it. For that matter, there are nearly always people standing in front of you and keeping any contrast in dress length from being conspicuous.

Girl Asks Boy

Dear Mrs. Post: An organization of which Father is a member is giving a big dance. Mother and Father are going and they want me to go, but I hesitate to ask a boy to go as no boy ever has asked me out. I am sixteen. I know only the boys in school and we're all friends but no one special. Most of the girls have boys who have a crush on them. Father said he'd ask a boy but I don't want that, if it is all right for me to ask one of my own set. Would it matter if it is a boy that seems to show partiality for just one girl in school?

Answer: If it is customary for the girls in your school to invite the boys to similar dances then to do so would be proper. Obviously you should choose a boy who is friendly to all, but not partial to any special one.

Eat Them, of Course

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to eat fine noodles in soup if the noodles are in strips about four or five inches long? Inasmuch as noodles left in such lengths are most unwise to eat, it suddenly dawned on me that perhaps they are in the soup for season alone and not supposed to be eaten. In the event they may be eaten, then how?

Answer: Cut them into proper lengths with the edge of your spoon.

MR. BIGDOME, I'M CHAIRMAN OF THE OFFICE SOCIAL COMMITTEE, AND WE WANTED TO KNOW IF THE FIRM WILL DONATE PRIZES FOR THE EVENTS WE'LL HAVE AT OUR PICNIC--AND I WANTED TO TAKE UP THE MATTER OF UNIFORMS FOR OUR SOFTBALL TEAM.

Every youth should learn to cook simple things. He may get married some day and want breakfast before he goes to work.

Some mothers want their sons to grow up and be doctors. Others fancy the law as a career, while others think engineering isn't a bad line to enter.

Of course most of them would like to see their sons turn out to be presidents. One of them went into detail about it.

"Certainly I want George to be president," she said. "Naturally he'd have to start out being a politician and even if he never got to be president he wouldn't ruin his health by working hard."

A Thought

Seeing women replacing men in many an occupation. Starts a fellow to asking them. For a rational explanation. What work did they do before, and who. Now does what the women used to do?

It is unavailing to remind a young miss, who has been disappointed in love, that there are just as many fish in the sea as she ever been caught. From her point of view, the big one got away.

Girl--I'm really an old-fashioned.

Boy Friend--Really?

Girl--Yes, that's all I ever drink.

Decker, Taylor and Marlo Score Ring Victories Thursday; Wiltwyck Club Joins Eastern New York Golf Association

Danaher Feels Interest in Sport Will Be Stimulated

Action Is Hailed as Most Progressive Step in Local History; 23 Others Are Affiliated

Wiltwyck Golf Club has joined the Eastern New York Golf Association, the largest golf organization in eastern and central New York, club pro Tommy Danaher announced today.

Mr. Danaher hailed the affiliation with the ENYGA as the most progressive step in the local club's history.

Wiltwyck becomes a member of an organization that includes 24 clubs. Seventeen tournaments are scheduled for club members this season. The first competition of the season was scheduled yesterday at the Van Schaick Country Club in Cohoes.

Partial List of Members

A partial list of clubs holding ENYGA memberships are Van Schaick Island Country Club of Cohoes; Wolfert's Roost Country Club, Albany; Edison Country Club, Rexford; Berkshire Hills Country Club, Pittsfield, Mass.; Mechanicsville Golf Club, Taconic Golf Club, Williamstown, Mass.; Stockbridge Golf Club, Stockbridge, Mass.; Columbia Country Club, Claverack, N. Y.; Pine Brooks Golf Club, Gloversville; Glens Falls Country Club, Glens Falls; Schuyler Meadows Club, Loudonville; Rutland Country Club, Rutland, Vt.; Antlers Country Club, Amsterdam; Troy Country Club, Shaker Ridge, Country Club, Loudonville; Normanside Country Club, Elmsford, N. Y.; McGregor Links, Saratoga Springs.

The Eastern New York Golf Association conducts two annual competitions in addition to the regular weekly medal play at various member clubs.

The annual pro-amateur tournament will be staged in conjunction with the district P.G.A. trials at the Glens Falls Country Club on July 31. The annual ENYGA championship competition of 72 holes will be held at the Antlers Country Club in Amsterdam on August 23, 24 and 25.

Mr. Danaher said he was confident the tieup with the association would stimulate interest in local play. He expressed the hope that Wiltwyck would be represented by at least a foursome at each of the weekly tournaments. The next competition is scheduled May 22 at Wolfert's Roost in Albany. Local club handicaps will be used for the first few weekly tournaments after which association handicaps will be established on the basis of scores shot in the association's tournaments.

For the time being, the classes will be divided as follows: Class A 1 to 12 strokes handicap; Class B 13 to 21; Class C 22 to 30. The weekly competition consists of 18-hole handicap medal play. The annual championship will be played over 72 holes.

Dan Gormley, pro at Wolfert's Roost Country Club in Albany, is the defending champion.

Local Contenders Named

The weekly play attracts nearly 200 competitors. Danaher said, Roy Vogt, M. Davenport, J. Watson Bailey, Billy Newkirk are expected to lead Kingston delegations to the various meets. Danaher said he hoped that within the next few weeks Wiltwyck would be in a position to send several foursomes. He said the new tieup would furnish sufficient competition to keep Wiltwyck golfers at a high peak of efficiency. An intensive inter-club local tournament schedule has been mapped by the energetic uptown pro.

Kingston will be the southernmost club in the association which also includes Massachusetts and Vermont.

Local Action Heavy

Meanwhile Kingston golfers have been giving Wiltwyck a tremendous play, despite adverse weather. The week-end match play-against-par tourney was won by M. Davenport on an 18-hole score of 82. He carded rounds of 42 and 40. Billy Newkirk shot 45-40 for 85, while J. W. Bailey, capped third place with 44-42-86. Newkirk had most on par with 4. Ernie LeFevre shot 44-45 for 89.

The drawn numbers for the week were Stan Winne, Bill Schaffrick and Bill Zwick. Twenty-one players competed Saturday, but Sunday's slate was rained out.

Tournament committee officials are arranging pairings for the best-ball tournament play which gets under way next week-end. Defending champions are Stan Winne and Harry Weber. The runners-up were A. D. Shufeldt and Ernest LeFevre. Danaher expects at least 32 pairings, with strict adherence to handicaps assuring balanced tandems.

Activities are perking up in the Wiltwyck Ladies' Golf Association. Early resumption of the usual Ladies' Day of golf and bridge on Wednesday is planned.

Among those taking an active part in arranging plans for Ladies' Day are: Mrs. Ernest LeFevre, Mrs. C. E. Burnett, Mrs. Stanley Hankinson, Mrs. Ray LeFevre, Mrs. V. J. Andretta and Mrs. Isaac Trowbridge.

Next to the legality of the reserve clause in the players' contracts, baseball's most puzzling question today is what has happened to Boston's power laden Red Sox?

Held to only three hits by Jack Kramer in last night's 3-0 defeat by the St. Louis Browns, the receding Red Sox stumbled through their fifth consecutive contest in which they failed to produce more than four safeties. Not even Chicago's hitless wonders of 1906 were that anemic with the stick.

Team in Slump

While no one expected them to continue to blast the ball with such deadly effect, as they had been doing in the first few weeks of the campaign, neither did anyone dream that so many good hitters as Boston possesses could all slump so badly at the same time.

In the last five games, of which they've dropped three to reduce their first place American League lead to five games, the Red Sox have made a total of 15 hits in 147 times at bat for a puny team batting average of .102. Compare this with their .297 compiled in their first 24 games, and it is almost unbelievable.

Individually the players' averages have shrunk alarmingly. Soaring above .400, now only Williams, Pesky and Dom DiMaggio are .300 hitters. In the last five games, Pesky has made but four hits; Rudy York, three; Hal Wagner and George Metkovich, two; Williams and Bobby Doerr, one; and DiMaggio none at all.

Only brilliant pitching by Mickey Harris and Dave Ferriss has prevented the Sox from losing all five.

In handling the Sox their third shutout of the season, Kramer faced only 31 batters last night and did not allow a runner to reach third until the ninth inning. The Browns' right-hander set the Red Sox down in order in five innings.

Cards Outlast Braves, 9-8

In a parade of players including nine pitchers, the St. Louis Cardinals edged out the Boston Braves 9-8 in another arc-light contest to solidify their position at the head of the National League. With 33 players participating, 17 for the Braves, the Cards had to go 10 innings to gain the decision.

Twice the Braves came from behind to deadlock the count, but went down in order in the 10th after the Redbirds had tallied on a steal of home by pinch runner Joffe Cross. Cross had gone in for catcher Ken O'Dea, who had opened the final frame with a double.

Enos Slaughter of the Cards treated Mort Cooper, a bridegroom of a few hours, most harshly by clubbing him for a pair of homers, each with a man on base, but the Braves came back to tie in the sixth 3-5. St. Louis went ahead again with three runs in the seventh, but the Tribe counted twice in the eighth and once in the ninth to force the game into extra innings.

Ken Burkhardt, fourth of five Card hurlers, was 21, winner, while Jim Konstanty, last of four Boston flingers, was the loser. The victory gave the Redbirds a half game advantage over the second place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rain washed out the rest of the major league schedule.

Mauriello Is 1-3 Favorite to Beat Woodcock Tonight

British Fighter Counting on 'Love Conquers All'; Plans Trip to Altar Following Bout

New York, May 17 (AP)—Love conquers all, they say. Bruce Woodcock, heavyweight champion of the British Empire, may be counting on that tonight when he makes his American debut at Madison Square Garden in a non-title 10-rounder against New York's popular Tami Mauriello.

The Mauriello-Woodcock fight will be broadcast over Station WJZ tonight starting at 10 o'clock. Before he crossed the Atlantic, Woodcock announced he would hurry back to his Doncaster, York, home after the fight to marry his sweetheart, Norma Speight, a lass he courted on 16-mile training walks over the Derbyshire Moors.

Every punch the British champion throws at Tami, therefore, will carry the power of love behind it as well as a bid to redeem Britain's pugilistic fortunes and bring fame to his working class father, mother and three younger brothers.

18,000 Expected

A packed house of around 18,000, is expected to pay more than $100,000 to watch this international bout, including the

Marquis of Queensberry, grandson of the originator of boxing's rules, and possibly Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Billy Conn.

It would be a wonderful story for Woodcock, a former railroad roundhouse worker, to win over such a distinguished audience, but the Broadway betting fraternity does not see it that way.

The odds boys, who figure every angle, have installed Mauriello a 1 to 3 favorite. They point out, that Mauriello is in the best shape of his career and has knocked out his last 10 opponents. Woodcock has won 24 of his last 25 bouts by kayos, but the experts assert he is easy to hit, a weakness they think will prove fatal.

This is all technical stuff to the six-foot, tea drinking Woodcock, however. He has trained hard at Bear Mountain, N. Y., and paid little attention to the experts. On several occasions he demonstrated that he really has a good right hand punch. His manager, Tom Hurst, firmly believes that Bruce will become the world heavyweight champion.

Woodcock probably will weigh around 190 pounds and Mauriello in the neighborhood of 195.

St. James Softies Win

Scoring eight big runs in the first inning, St. James scored a 15 to 3 victory over the First Baptists in the Federation Softball League last night at Barmann Park. The game was played on a wet field. Osterhoudt and F. Patten worked for the winners while Harvey and Krom formed the battery for the Baptists. After the first frame the winners shoved across five more in the fifth and two in the sixth. The Baptists tallied two in the third and one in the fourth.

Packed House Witnesses Another Sizzling Card

Ohio Golden Gloves Win Only One Bout; Virgilio Loses on Fouls to Mid-West Foe

Blaring ballyhoo trumpets and past accomplishments of their opponents mean naught to Ben Becker's Adirondack A.A.U. ring warriors. This was proven Thursday night when the invading Cleveland Golden Gloves champions were stopped in their tracks before approximately 2,200 boxing fans at the municipal auditorium.

Little Joe Zoldack was the only leather pusher from the midwest who came out with a victory, and he too might have joined his sablesmates in defeat if Carmine Virgilio, Poughkeepsie bantamweight, hadn't roughed it up to the extent where the officials had to subtract from his score on illegal tactics.

Although the consensus was that the Cleveland boys were among the best ever seen in action here, they just couldn't overcome the fighting spirit and ring process of the Adirondack gladiators who were all set for them.

Decker a Favorite

On its merits, the match between George "Babyface" Decker, Schenectady bantamweight and Jimmy Bowman of Cleveland, stole the limelight. After five rounds of sizzling action, Decker was awarded the decision. As he left the ring, the cheers indicated he'll be a favorite whenever he returns to the auditorium.

Jimmy Taylor, New York city 150 pounder, won the scheduled main event from Jimmy Maddox, Cleveland welterweight, in a slow start, the two mixed it freely in the rounds that followed. Maddox who replaced Billy Hunt, tried to land his dynamic left but was tamed by Taylor's powerful right.

Going into the final round, the two were even on points, but Taylor bore down on his opponent in this frame to pile up a winning margin.

Joe Marlo, who took the place of Matt Baranski, upset the victory string of Billy Stevens, Cleveland welterweight, in the semi-final round. Carrying the fight to his adversary, the Albany dynamo punished Stevens with bomo blows that almost had him on the canvas in the fourth round. When the decision was announced in Marlo's favor, the fans cheered. They considered it Joe's fight all the way.

Next Card May 29

Comments heard as the large assemblage of fans departed from the auditorium presage another capacity house for the card of bouts on Wednesday, May 29. The shift from Thursday to Wednesday is necessitated by the Memorial Day ballgame under the lights at the municipal stadium.

The complete results:
Pat Bowers, 138, Kingston, won on T.K.O. over Jimmy Thomas, 139, Schenectady. (Referee stopped bout after first round).

Barney Emerson, 119, Kingston, won decision over Harland Morton, 123, Albany, in three rounds.

John Roland, 135, Albany, defeated Bob Bowers, 134, Kingston, in three rounds.

Joe Zoldack, 115, Cleveland, defeated Carmine Virgilio, 115, Poughkeepsie, three rounds.

George Decker, 115, Schenectady, defeated Jimmy Bowman, 115, Cleveland, five rounds.

Joe Marlo, 140, Albany, won semi-final of five rounds over Billy Stevens, 142, Cleveland.

Jimmy Taylor, 150, New York city, defeated Jimmy Maddox, 145, Cleveland, in main event of five rounds.

Pro Cage Leagues Seek to Organize

Loops After Basis Similar to Baseball, Football

New York, May 17 (AP)—The American and National Basketball Leagues, the two major professional circuits, are making an effort to get together and to organize pro basketball on a basis similar to baseball and football.

In issuing a call for an American League meeting here May 28, President John J. O'Brien said yesterday that three strong "Class AA" leagues, either organized or in the process of organization, will attend. The National League will meet early in June and it is expected that a joint agreement will come out of these meetings covering playing rules, territorial rights and player contracts.

The American League will consider franchise applications from Brooklyn, Toronto, Washington, Boston, Worcester, Mass., Troy, N. Y., and Schenectady, N. Y.

Minor circuits in upper New York state and New England already have been formed under the guidance of Frank Basile of Herkimer, N. Y., and Clyde Davidson of Boston, O'Brien said. A third, sponsored by the American League, will include cities in New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania and Flushing, N. Y.

5. Most of you know how to avoid the baseball grip, but many of you drop unknowingly into a habit that affects your grip adversely and leads to poor shots.

You fall into the easy error of gripping your club with the base of your left hand. The balance of power rests with your little finger and the two fingers next to it. As soon as you grip more with the base of your hand, you grip less with your thumbs and forefingers. Now your hands tighten instinctively as the clubhead swings into the ball. If you have begun your swing with your grip predominantly in the back part of your left hand, too much tightness likely will be there at the striking instant, which will cause your wrist to stiffen. This can happen continuously with you without your being aware of it. The ball feels rather dead and fails to go as far as you think it should. Your rigid left wrist brings about that result.

Pinch a little with thumbs and forefingers to make the needed correction.

"I am so an American"

You bet you are, Sonny—just as American as any kid in town. So hold on there. Don't let those tears break through.

The first deep hurt...the dismay...the bewilderment...caused by childish taunts of years ago are still recalled by many an adult American made to suffer because his religion, race or color differed from that of others.

And, too, many grown men and women remember with a feeling of shame some childish cruelty...some foolish act of prejudice...in which they played a part.

How senseless it seems in the face of the fact, so forcefully demonstrated, that men of different color, different creed—Catholics, Protestants and Jews—can live and fight and die as one.

How well we've learned that there was no right or wrong side of the tracks among a bomber's crew—no family trees in those rubber rafts—that every wound bled red, none blue!

These are truths important for us all to remember now that Victory has come—now that America once more knows peace and tastes the happiness of families re-united.

These are truths to be remembered always because they are the truths Americans worked for... fought for... died for!

These are truths to be remembered because these are truths certain people among us would have us forget—people who would substitute hate for understanding, bigotry for tolerance, oppression for freedom.

Let us put an end to their plans to destroy the democracy we cherish.

Let us never forget, not only how well we fought, but why we fought.

Mrs. Roosevelt Is To Speak at Bard College Exercises

Commencement Program To Feature Memorial Services for Those Killed in War

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., May 17—Bard College's commencement program, which will feature Eleanor Roosevelt as the principal speaker, was announced today by the college's president, Charles Harold Gray. The exercises will be held at 2:30 p. m. on Memorial Day at Bard, which is located 20 miles from Mrs. Roosevelt's home at Hyde Park and which once had President Roosevelt as a member of its board of trustees.

The program will also include memorial services for alumni and students killed during the war and the dedication of a student-designed war memorial.

It will be the first formal commencement at the college since December, 1942, when the first winter ceremonies were held as a result of the war-accelerated program. It will also be the first time Bard has issued its bachelor of arts degrees independently, having been a part of Columbia University from 1928 to 1944 after having been founded at St. Stephen's College in 1860.

First Female to Graduate
Among the graduating class of 16 students will be Carol Wagner of New York city, the first female student to be accepted by the college when it became coeducational in 1944. There will be four other coeds among the graduates. Although the present enrollment of 210 students is the largest in the 88-year history of the college, the explanation for the graduating class being one of the smallest is, according to college authorities, that male students had their education interrupted by the war and that female students, with the exception of those who transferred from other colleges, are all freshmen and sophomores.

More than two-thirds of the present male student enrollment at Bard is composed of veterans, and plans are under way to increase the capacity for housing qualified students wishing to attend the college under the G.I. Bill of Rights. With a grant of $27,500 from the state, to be used in remodeling a former fraternity house which has been given to the college and in preparation of additional room for veterans, and with the installation of 15 family units to be supplied by the Federal Housing Authority, it is expected that Bard will be able to accommodate 250 students in the fall.

The baccalaureate and memorial service will be held in the college chapel on Wednesday, May 29, at 5 p. m., according to President Gray's announcement. The annual dinner and dance for seniors will be held in the evening. On Thursday morning there will be additional chapel services, a meeting of the board of trustees, and a faculty-student recital in Bard Hall. The procession will start at 2:15 p. m., with the college president opening the commencement exercises at 2:30 p. m. Following Mrs.

Roosevelt's address, President Gray will announce the prizes and the degrees will be conferred upon the graduates.

Pennsylvanians May Enlist in Guard Units

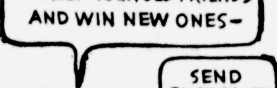

Harrisburg, Pa., May 17 (AP)—The possibility arose today that Pennsylvanians may choose a "hitch" in a home-town National Guard unit as an alternative to induction for full-time duty in one of the armed services.
Congress, in amending the Selective Service law this week to ban the drafting of teen-agers and fathers, let stand other provisions of the pre-war law. One of these put in Class I-C the personnel of federally-recognized National Guard units, recognizing them as "men in service," along with members of the Regular Army, Navy, Marine Corps and other specified services.
"It looks like we've gone clear around the circle and we're back where we started before Pearl Harbor," commented Lt. Col. Henry M. Gross, State Selective Service Director, in reply to a reporter's inquiry.
At present, the Pennsylvania National Guard is in transition between the inactivation of units that were called into federal service during World War 2, and their reorganization on a new basis. Recruiting for 26,287 officers and men in "first priority" units, later to be boosted to approximately 40,000 starts next month.

Maneuvers Continue

With the Eighth Fleet on Training Maneuvers off Puerto Rico, May 17 (AP)—A surface striking force led by the Battleship Missouri blasted today at targets designated by planes flying over the west end of Culebra Island. "The Big Mo," the cruisers Macon and Dayton and several destroyers dumped 50 tons of explosive shells on Culebra yesterday. The first day of the attack was exclusively aerial.

Jap Goes to Trial

Police Criticize Dewey
 Albany, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—The Police Conference legislative committee says Governor Dewey's veto of a bill which would have made retirement of municipal policemen mandatory after 25 years "will impair police service in every community."

The governor overlooked the maintenance of efficient and high standard police service to the people," the committee declared in a statement yesterday.

Uninvited Guests

Numbers Mixup
 Mankato, Minn., May 17 (AP)—A woman motorist, in traffic court on a charge of speeding, interrupted a policeman who testified she had been driving 55 miles an hour.

Big Haul
 Canton, Ill., May 17 (AP)—Sheriff Harold L. Ellsworth is on the prowl for the thief who stole a barn—or what was left of it. Ellsworth bought the barn and had it razed, and planned to remove the lumber. But when he returned the next day, everything was gone.

Too Big To Swallow
 Redding, Calif., May 17 (AP)—Forest Ranger Harold Peterson reports the presence of a fish in the headwaters of the Pit river arm of Shasta dam "as big as a truck"—and if you don't believe it, he'll show you the truck.

Peterson said he used his forest truck for a comparative measuring stick to estimate the big fish's length.

He came up with this data: It was a sturgeon, 14 feet long.

Love Thy Neighbor
 Lewistown, Mont., May 17 (AP)—Residents of a fashionable district objected vociferously when they saw some one had moved in an unpainted shack.

Plans to invoke zoning laws were abandoned when the shack's owner placed this sign in a window: "This house being remodeled for a G.I. Joe who spent five years in service and 2½ in the south Pacific."

Neighbors now are helping Joe with hammers and saws.

Mansion Tours Feature Opening Day of First Dutch Church Fair

One of the feature attractions opening day of the Dutch Fair of the First Dutch Reformed Church will be tours through the Van Leuven Mansion, corner Wall and Main streets. The fair will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday with special events listed each day. The mansion tours will be conducted under the auspices of the Eendracht Guild of the church Wednesday afternoon and evening. A nominal admission charge will be made.

The house was built in 1781 by John Suydam, early senator of New York state. Following his death it served as Republican headquarters for the town and later was purchased by the Van Leuven family. The house today stands restored and furnished as closely as possible to what it might have been at the time it was built, when it was considered a show place.

The house contains the original slave kitchen with its old Dutch ovens. This room is furnished with interesting kitchen utensils and early pine furniture. The room is filled with 17th century Hudson Valley furniture including a chair which belonged to Peter Vanderlyn, first portrait painter in New York state and great grandfather of John Vanderlyn, famous early American artist.

The mahogany dining room is furnished with American Hepplewhite furniture with a sideboard that belonged to the first governor of Vermont, over which hangs a portrait by John Trumbull. The library is furnished in New York and Philadelphia Chippendale furniture with a 17th century cabinet and a portrait by John Vanderlyn of Charles W. Beech, who was the builder of the Catskill Mountain House. One of the most notable specimens in this room is a serpentine front secretary made by John Goddard in Newport, R. I., about 1760.

Opposite the library is the Windsor Dining Room with a collection of Windsor chairs and a clock which was the wedding gift to David Schuyler, an early mayor of Albany. Hanging in this room is a portrait of Stephen Van Rensselaer painted by Peter Vanderlyn about 1710.

On the second floor in a room known as the Strawberry Patch because of the strawberry motif on the wall paper and draperies is a collection of Queen Anne furniture and an applied counterpane displaying nine American eagles. Opposite this room is the Garden Bedroom which is furnished in New York State Sheraton furniture, including a trestle bed and a clock by Aaron Willard.

Leaving this room and going through the maple hall in which is found a curly maple Queen Anne Highboy and one other choice examples of curly maple, one enters into the McIntire Bedroom with a bed made by this cabinet maker which is still draped in its original raspberry red toile du joly.

Opposite this room is perhaps the most historically connected room in the house. It is known as the Lafayette room because Lafayette, as well as, Martin Van Buren and Washington Irving have slept in this room. It is furnished in New York State Chippendale furniture with a trestle bed which is draped in a linen depicting George Washington being drawn in a chariot by two English lions. There is also a collection of Bristol and Lambert delft. In this room hang two engravings by John Trumbull which were struck by the artist for a series of which two are now in Mount Vernon.

On the top floor is the China Hall with its collection of historic blue Staffordshire and early brown glass; a curly maple bedroom which contains a chair which once belonged to Sir William Johnson of French and Indian War fame; together with several fine ship models. Off this room is the Pennsylvania decorated sitting room.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD L. BELL.

Miss Margaret M. Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward C. Hammond of Southampton, was married to Harold L. Bell, chief signaller, Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bell, Jr., Phoenix, Easter Sunday. They were shown after the ceremony at the Shandaken Methodist Church.

Decker, Taylor and Marlo Score Ring Victories Thursday; Wiltwyck Club Joins Eastern New York Golf Association

Danaher Feels Interest in Sport Will Be Stimulated

Action Is Hailed as Most Progressive Step in Local History: 23 Others Are Affiliated

Wiltwyck Golf Club has joined the Eastern New York Golf Association, the largest golf organization in eastern and central New York, club pro Tommy Danaher announced today.

Mr. Danaher hailed the affiliation with the ENYGA as the most progressive step in the local club's history.

Wiltwyck becomes a member of an organization that includes 23 clubs. Seventeen tournaments are scheduled for club members this season. The first competition of the season was scheduled yesterday at the Van Schaick Country Club in Cohoes.

Partial List of Members

A partial list of clubs holding ENYGA memberships are Van Schaick Island Country Club of Cohoes; Wolfert's Roost Country Club, Albany; Edison Country Club, Westford; Berkshire Hills Country Club, Pittsfield, Mass.; Mechanicville Golf Club, Ticonderoga; Wiltwyck Golf Club, Stockbridge, Mass.; Columbia Country Club, Chazy, N. Y.; Pine Brook Golf Club, Gloversville; Glens Falls Country Club, Glens Falls; Schuyler Meadows Club, Loudonville; Rutland Country Club, Rutland, Vt.; Andover Country Club, Amsterdam; Troy Country Club, Shaker Ridge Country Club, Loudonville; Normanside Country Club, Elmsford, N. Y.; McGregor Links, Saratoga Springs.

The Eastern New York Golf Association conducts two annual competitions in addition to the regular weekly medal play at various member clubs.

The annual pro-amateur tournament will be staged in conjunction with the district P.G.A. trials at the Glens Falls Country Club on July 31. The annual ENYGA championship competition of 72 holes will be held at the Andover Country Club in Amsterdam on August 23, 24 and 25.

Mr. Danaher said he was confident the tieup with the association would stimulate interest in local play. He expressed the hope that Wiltwyck would be represented by at least a foursome at each of the weekly tournaments. The next competition is scheduled May 22 at Wolfert's Roost in Albany. Local club handicaps will be used for the first few weekly tournaments after which association handicaps will be established on the basis of score shot in the association's tournaments.

For the time being, the classes will be divided as follows: Class A 1 to 12 strokes handicap; Class B 13 to 21; Class C 22 to 30. The weekly competition consists of 18-hole handicap medal play. The annual championship will be played over 72 holes.

Dan Gormley, pro at Wolfert's Roost Country Club in Albany, is the defending champion.

Local Contenders Named

The weekly play attracts nearly 200 competitors, Danaher said. Roy Vogt, M. Davenport, J. Watson Bailey, Billy Newkirk are expected to lead Kingston delegations to the various contests. Danaher said he hoped that within the next few weeks Wiltwyck would be in a position to send several foursomes. He said the new tieup would furnish sufficient competition to keep Wiltwyck golfers at a high peak of efficiency. An intensive inter-club local tournament schedule has been mapped by the energetic uptown pro.

Kingston will be the southernmost club in the association which also includes Massachusetts and Vermont.

Local Action Heavy

Meanwhile Kingston golfers have been giving Wiltwyck a tremendous play, despite adverse weather. The week-end match play against-par tourney was won by M. Davenport with an 18-hole score of 82. He carded rounds of 42 and 40. Billy Newkirk shot 45-40 for 85, while J. W. Bailey topped third place with 44-42-86. Newkirk had most on par with 4. Ernie LeFevre shot 44-45 for 89.

The drawn numbers for the week were Stan Winne, Bill Schaffrick and Bill Zwicke. Twenty-one players competed Saturday, but Sunday's slate was rained out.

Tournament committee officials are arranging pairings for the best-ball tournament play which gets under way next week-end. Defending champions are Stan Winne and Harry Weber. The runners-up were A. D. Shufeldt and Ernest LeFevre. Danaher expects at least 32 pairings, with strict adherence to handicaps assuring balanced tandems.

Activities are perking up in the Wiltwyck Ladies Golf Association. Early resumption of the usual Ladies' Day of golf and bridge on Wednesday is planned.

Among those taking an active part in arranging plans for Ladies' Day are: Mrs. Ernest LeFevre, Mrs. C. E. Burnett, Mrs. Stanley Hankinson, Mrs. Ray LeFevre, Mrs. V. J. Andretta and Mrs. Isaac Trowbridge.

SCOREBOARD

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Next to the legality of the reserve clause in the players' contracts, baseball's most puzzling question today is what has happened to Boston's power laden Red Sox?

Held to only three hits by Jack Kramer in last night's 3-0 defeat by the St. Louis Browns, the receding Red Sox stumbled through their fifth consecutive contest in which they failed to produce more than four safeties. Not even Chicago's hitless wonders of 1906 were that anemic with the stick.

Team in Slump

While no one expected them to continue to blast the ball with such deadly effect, as they had been doing in the first few weeks of the campaign, neither did anyone dream that so many good hitters as Boston possesses could all slump so badly at the same time.

In the last five games, of which they've dropped three to reduce their first place American League lead to five games, the Red Sox have made a total of 15 hits in 147 times at bat for a puny team batting average of .102. Compare this with their .297 compiled in their first 24 games, and it is almost unbelievable.

Individually the players averages have shrunk alarmingly. Before the slump, six regulars were averaging above .400. Now only Williams, Pesky and Dom DiMaggio are .300 hitters. In the last five games, Pesky has made but four hits; Rudy York, three; Hal Wagner and George Metkovich, two; Williams and Bobby Doerr, one and DiMaggio none at all.

Only brilliant pitching by Mickey Harris and Dave Ferriss has prevented the Sox from losing all five games.

In handing the Sox their third shutout of the season, Kramer faced only 31 batters last night and did not allow a runner to reach third until the ninth inning. The Brownie right-hander set the Red Sox down in order in five innings.

Joe Dobson, trying for his fifth straight mound success, yielded only five safeties, but hits by Chet Laabs, Johnny Berardino and Walt Judnich produced two runs in the first frame and another followed in the seventh.

Cards Outlast Braves, 9-8

In a parade of players including Cardinals, the St. Louis Cardinals edged out the Boston Braves 9-8 in another arc-light contest to solidify their position at the head of the National League. With 33 players participating, 17 for the Braves, the Cards had to go 10 innings to gain the decision.

Twice the Braves came from behind to deadlock the count, but went down in order in the 10th after the Redbirds had tallied on a steal of home by pinch runner Joffre Cross. Cross had gone for catcher Ken O'Dea, who had opened the final frame with a double.

Enos Slaughter of the Cards treated Mort Cooper, a bridegroom of a few hours, most harshly by clubbing him for a pair of homers, each with a man on base, but the Braves came back to tie in the sixth 5-5. St. Louis went ahead again with three runs in the seventh, but the Tribe counted twice in the eighth and once in the ninth to force the game into extra innings.

Ken Burkhardt, fourth of five Card hurlers, was the winner, while Jim Konstanty, last of four Boston flingers, was the loser. The victory gave the Redbirds a half game advantage over the second place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rain washed out the rest of the major league schedule.

Mauriello Is 1-3 Favorite to Beat Woodcock Tonight

British Fighter Counting on 'Love Conquers All'; Plans Trip to Altar Following Bout

New York, May 17 (AP)—Love conquers all, they say. Bruce Woodcock, heavyweight champion of the British Empire, may be counting on that tonight when he makes his American debut at Madison Square Garden in a non-title 10-rounder against New York's popular Tam Mauriello.

The Mauriello-Woodcock fight will be broadcast over Station WJZ tonight starting at 10 o'clock. Before he crossed the Atlantic, Woodcock was in the mood to hurry back to his Doncaster, Yorkshire, home after the fight to marry his sweetheart, Nora Speight, a lass he courted on 16-mile training walks over the Derbyshire Moors.

Every punch the British champion throws at Tam, therefore, will carry the power of love behind it as well as a bid to redeem Britain's pugilistic fortunes and bring fame to his working class father, mother and three younger brothers.

18,000 Expected

A packed house of around 18,000 is expected to pay more than $100,000 at $20 tops to watch this international bout, including the

Marquis of Queensberry, grandson of the originator of boxing's rules, and possibly Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Billy Conn.

It would be a wonderful story for Woodcock, a former railroad roundhouse worker, to win before such a distinguished audience, but the Broadway betting fraternity does not see it that way.

The odds boys, who figure every angle, have installed Mauriello a 1 to 3 favorite. They point out, that Mauriello is in the best shape of his career and has knocked out his last 10 opponents. Woodcock has won 24 of his last 25 bouts by kayos, but the experts assert he is easy to hit, a weakness they think will prove fatal.

This is all technical stuff to the six-foot, tea drinking Woodcock, however. He has trained hard at Bear Mountain, N. Y., and paid little attention to the experts. On several occasions he demonstrated that he really has a good right-hand punch. His manager, Tom Harvey, firmly believes that Bruce will become the world heavyweight champion.

Woodcock probably will weigh around 160 pounds when he enters the neighborhood of 159.

St. James Softies Win

Scoring eight big runs in the first inning, St. James scored a 15 to 3 victory over the First Baptists in the Federation Softball League last night at Barnum Park. The game was played on a wet field. Osterhout and F. Fatum worked for the winners while Harvey and Krom formed the battery for the Baptists. After the first frame the winners shoved across five more in the fifth and two in the sixth. The Baptists tallied two in the third and one in the fourth.

Packed House Witnesses Another Sizzling Card

Ohio Golden Glovers Win Only One Bout; Virgilio Loses on Fouls to Mid-West Foe

Blaring ballyhoo trumpets and past accomplishments of their opponents mean naught to Ben Becker's Adirondack A.A.U. ring warriors. This was proven Thursday night when the invading Cleveland Golden Gloves champions were stopped in their tracks before approximately 2,200 boxing fans at the municipal auditorium.

Little Joe Zoldack was the only leather pusher from the Midwest who came out with a victory, and he too might have joined his stablemates in defeat if Carmine Virgilio, Poughkeepsie bantamweight, hadn't roughed it up to the extent where the officials had to subtract from his score on illegal tactics.

Although the consensus was that the Cleveland boys were among the best ever seen in action here, they just couldn't overcome the fighting spirit and ring prowess of the Adirondack gladiators who were all set for them.

Decker a Favorite

On its merits, the match between George "Babyface" Decker, Schenectady bantamweight, and Jimmy Bowman of Cleveland, stole the limelight. After five rounds of sizzling action, Decker was awarded the decision. As he left the ring, the cheers indicated he'll be a favorite whenever he returns to the auditorium.

Jimmy Taylor, New York city 150 pounder, won the scheduled main event from Jimmy Maddox, Cleveland welter. After a slow start, the two mixed it freely in the rounds that followed. Maddox who replaced Billy Hunt, tried to land his dynamic left but was tamed by Taylor's powerful right.

Going into the final round, the two were even on points, but Taylor bore down on his opponent in this frame to pile up a winning margin.

Joe Marlo, who took the place of Matt Baranski, upset the victory string of Billy Stevens, Cleveland welter prize, in the semi-final round. Carrying the fight to his adversary, the Albany dynamo punished Stevens with body blows that almost had him on the canvas in the fourth round. When the decision was announced in Marlo's favor, the fans cheered. They considered it Joe's fight all the way.

Next Card May 29

Comments heard as the large assemblage of fans departed from the auditorium presage another capacity house for the card of bouts on Wednesday, May 29. The shift from Thursday to Wednesday was necessitated by the Memorial Day holiday during the lights at the municipal stadium.

The complete results:
Pat Bowers, 138, Kingston, won on T.K.O. over Jimmy Thomas, 139, Schenectady. (Referee stopped bout after first round).
Barney Emberson, 119, Kingston, won decision over Harland Morton, 123, Albany, in three rounds.

John Roland, 135, Albany, defeated Bob Bowers, 134, Kingston, in three rounds.
Joe Zoldack, 115, Cleveland, defeated Carmen Virgilio, 115,

Poughkeepsie, three rounds.
George Decker, 115, Schenectady, defeated Jimmy Bowman, 115, Cleveland, five rounds.
Joe Marlo, 140, Albany, won semi-final of five rounds over Billy Stevens, 142, Cleveland.
Jimmy Taylor, 150, New York city, defeated Jim Maddox, 145, Cleveland, in main event of five rounds.

Pro Cage Leagues Seek to Organize

Loops After Basis Similar to Baseball, Football

New York, May 17 (AP)—The American and National Basketball Leagues, the two major professional circuits, are making an effort to get together and to organize pro basketball on a basis similar to baseball and football.

Issuing a call for an American League meeting here May 26, President John J. O'Brien said yesterday that three strong "Class AA" leagues, either organized or in the process of organization, will meet early in June and it is expected that a joint agreement will come out of these meetings covering playing rules, territorial rights and player contracts.

The American League will consider franchise applications from Pittsburgh, Toronto, Washington, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Newark, Boston, Worcester, Mass., Troy, N. Y., and Schenectady, N. Y.

Minor circuits in upper New York state and New England already have been formed under the guidance of Frank Basole of Herkimer, N. Y., and Clyde Davidson of Boston, O'Brien said. A third, sponsored by the American League, will include cities in New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania and Flushing, N. Y.

5. Most of you know how to avoid the baseball grip, but many of you drop unknowingly into a habit that affects your grip adversely and leads to poor shots.

You fall into the easy error of gripping your club with the base of your left hand. The balance of power rests with your little finger and the two fingers next to it. As soon as you grip more with the base of your hand, you grip less with your thumbs and forefingers. Now your hands tighten instinctively as the clubhead swings into the ball. If you have begun your swing with your grip predominantly in the back part of your left hand, too much tightness likely will be at the striking instant, which will cause your wrist to stiffen. This can happen continuously with you without your being aware of it. The ball feels rattled and fails to go as far as you think it should. Your rigid left wrist brings about that result. Pinch a little with thumb and forefingers to make the needed correction.

Charlie Neff Will Pitch Opener for Gov. Clintons Sunday at City Stadium few weeks in talking up Sunday's contest and followers anticipate a good size crowd when the umpire shouts "Play Ball." "We're banking on satisfactory local support to carry us through this season," Freleigh said today. "Tickets are very nominal and I'm sure fans will be satisfied with the brand of ball we'll be playing."

Game With Arlington Will Open Mid-Hudson League; Tilt Slated for 2:30 P. M.

Charlie Neff, former star hurler with the Kingston Recreation, and who has recently been honorably discharged from service, has been nominated by Manager Jim Freleigh to do the pitching for his Gov. Clinton Market ball club in the opening of the Mid-Hudson Baseball League Sunday afternoon at municipal stadium. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. The Ferris Tavern team of Arlington will furnish the opposition.

Children Under 16 Free

This morning Manager Freleigh announced that all children under the age of 16 will be admitted free to Sunday's game as the guests of the Gov. Clinton management.

"I'm counting on Charlie to get us off to a flying start in the league," Manager Freleigh told The Freeman sports department this morning when he dropped around to talk about Sunday's opener. "The big boy looks to be in good shape and I feel confident he can handle the starting assignment. If he should get into trouble Paul Misore will be ready to take over."

Off to a victory start in the City Baseball League, Manager Freleigh hopes his club can do likewise Sunday afternoon in the first Sabbath game of the season at the uptown ball park.

Mexicans Term U. S. Player Contracts 'Monopolistic'

Surprise Counter-Attack Follows Suit Started by Yankees; Giants Action Postponed

By JACK HAND
New York, May 17 (AP)—Legal action by the player contract, the cornerstone of organized baseball, has been questioned in New York Supreme Court by a surprising counter-attack against what it charged was an American "monopoly." The Yankees' contracts were "monopolistic," unconstitutional, illegal and against public policy," Jerome J. Jerome, counsel for President Jorge Posada and the Mexican League, today insisted that players are not in "peonage for life."

New Trial May 27
The court also reserved decision on the Mexican charge but indicated it thought the case would be tried right down to the end until every scintilla of evidence has been introduced.

Later Hess declared "Major League Baseball Clubs are given the exclusive right to the services of a player for the duration of the player's professional baseball life." He said the contract with any terminate its contract with any of its players on short notice. A player cannot challenge any action by the club, his only recourse is to give up baseball as a career and a source of livelihood."

No Complaint by Players
Hughes said that no Yankee players were complaining about the "reserve" clause in their contracts which the Mexicans said made them "chattel" for life. He said the court that "the great American game as we know it will be destroyed" if the present contract is declared illegal.

New York State Supreme court decision of 1914 in which the court said it would not enforce a "monopolistic contract" between first baseman Hal Chase and the Yankees was read by Hess.

In a reserved decision, Justice Hughes said that the court would take action by the New York State.

Yankees that they drop their suit as it related to Rod Rennie, sports writer for the New York Herald Tribune, whom they had named as a Mexican League agent. Rennie through counsel, has denied the accusation. The Yanks agreed to take the matter under consideration.

Baseball's reserve clause, an important part of the game since it was first incorporated into the National League contracts in 1880, provides that a club "reserves" a player's services for the ensuing year when he signs a current contract.

It often has been pointed out that, if the players were free to sign with a different club each year, the better talent would be concentrated in the larger cities where higher salaries could be paid.

Conflicting Rulings Given
Conflicting court rulings on the reserve clause have been given in past years; one of the more recent decisions being a United States Supreme Court opinion read by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes in 1917 approving the entire organization of baseball. The court had ruled then that baseball had to have its peculiar contractual setup to exist.

Recreations Seek Tom Maines, Dick Whitesell for Team
The Kingston Recreations are definitely interested in obtaining Tommy Maines and Dick Whitesell for outfield duty this summer. The Freeman learned last night. Both Maines and Whitesell played with the Recs before the outbreak of war.

The acquisition of these two players has been sought due to the recent loss of Sid Solomon, regular Rec outfielder, who signed a contract with the Jersey City Giants of the International League. Both ball players were members of the armed forces and since have returned to baseball. Maines is a member of the City League and although he's not in his top shape as yet, followers believe the popular fly-chaser will round into shape soon. Whitesell, a Poughkeepsie ball player, is said to be in great shape and in a number of Bridge City games has been playing spectacular ball.

Following his summer ball-playing Whitesell plans to return to Syracuse University.

Enroute for Match
London, May 17 (AP)—Dick Burton, British Open golf champion, was to leave for the United States today to play the Gripsholm today to keep his date with Byron Nelson for a special 36-hole match May 29. Burton finished fourth yesterday in a 36-hole, one-day tournament at Merle, England, won by Norman von Nida of Australia with a six-under-par 142. Burton had 75-75-150.

The annual business meeting and election of officers of the First Baptist Church was held last evening at 7:30 in the church parlors, with the Rev. Edward V. It was voted to send the Rev. Mr. Winder as a delegate to the Northern Baptist Convention, Grand Rapids, Mich., from May 26 to 26, with all expenses paid.

In co-operation with the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, it was voted to ask Dr. William Ward Ayer, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, New York city, to conduct a series of evangelistic meetings in Kingston for 10 days, beginning Sunday, October 6, and to ask the Rev. Gordon Schroeder, director of evangelism of New York Baptist State convention, Syracuse, to organize and initiate a visitation campaign among the interested leaders and members on Sunday, Sept. 29.

It was also decided to renew its financial support to the Kingston Week-Day School of Religious Education and to co-operate with the St. James Methodist Church and the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church in union effort during the Sunday morning services in the month of August.

Hitler's Threat

Nuernberg, May 17 (AP)—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder told the International Military Tribunal today that Adolf Hitler warned him and commanders soon after the outbreak of war that he would destroy any of them who stood in the way of his own military judgment.

Donovan Is Cleared

New York, May 17 (AP)—Arthur Donovan, boxing referee, was cleared of a homicide charge in felony court today after a grand jury refused to indict the nationally known sports figure. The jury had been investigating the death of David Stanley Corcoran, 58, an importer and old friend of Donovan, who died after a street fight April 19. Donovan, 54, was charged with homicide after a patrolman said he had seen Donovan slap Corcoran and Corcoran fell to the street during an early morning argument in Fifth avenue. The importer struck his head on the pavement. He died a few hours later in a hospital.

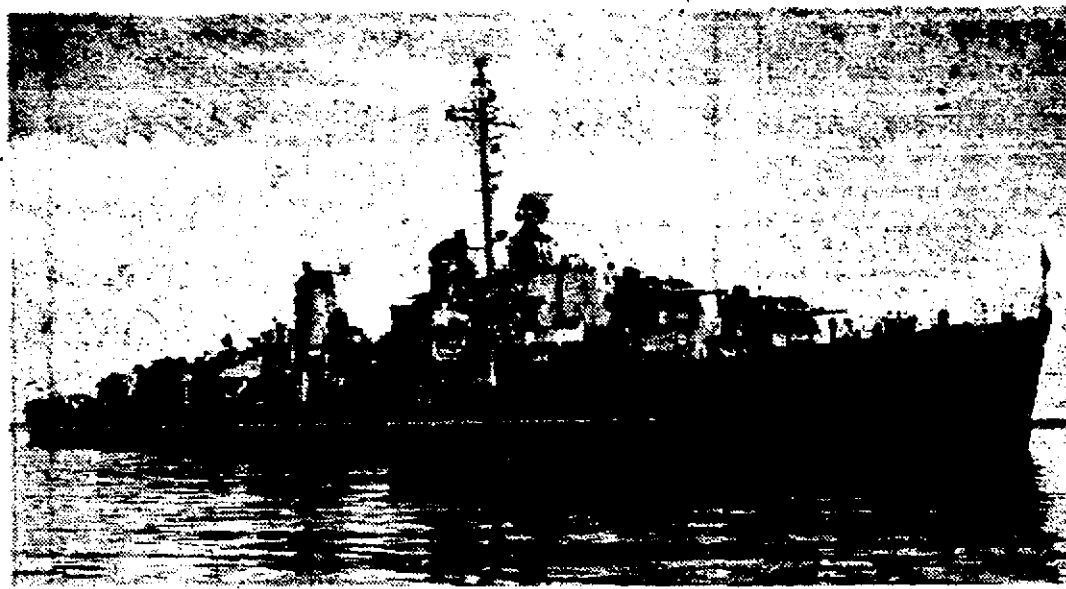

Fullers Triumph

Fullers defeated the New York Bakery in a regular City Softball League game last night by the score of 5 to 3 at Loughran Park. Amos Fullers led the winners and allowed four hits. Meyers did the catching. Enright worked for the losers and was "touched" for six singles. Lewy did his catching. Clarence "Smo" Rowland punched out two hits for Fullers while Stern collected a pair of hits for the bakers, one a triple.

Cornell Will Compete

Ithaca, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—Cornell's crew probably will fly west to compete in the "Little Poughkeepsie" intercollegiate rowing regatta at Seattle on June 22. Athletic Director Robert J. Kane announced Cornell's tentative acceptance of a University of Washington invitation which was extended to 10 other schools.

Byrnes' Party Leaves for U. S.

pressed the conviction that, despite the failure of the current conference to draft any major treaties, the outstanding differences between Russia and the western powers would be settled at the next meeting. Similar views had been expressed by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Bevin and V. M. Molotov, Russian foreign minister, left shortly after the Americans.

James Dunn, assistant U. S. Secretary of State, remained in Paris to work with deputies of the other three powers in preparation for the June 15 conference.

Based on Progress

American sources said that Byrnes' attitude was based on progress made on such questions as Italian reparations, colonies and Balkan frontiers.

They said that these advances should assure the calling of a 21-nation peace conference, even if the next meeting of Foreign Ministers should adjourn without a total agreement on peace treaties.

American officials said that the city of Trieste, key to the Italian peace treaty, had become a symbol of whether the next conference would succeed or fail.

At the conference just terminated, the United States insisted that Trieste remain Italian; the Russians were just as insistent that the important Adriatic port be ceded to Yugoslavia. Britain and France, which originally supported the United States, were reported willing to compromise by declaring Trieste an international city.

The American informants said that previous experience with Russia led them to hope that by next month Moscow would be willing to yield or compromise.

Britain and the United States are expected to try through diplomatic channels to swing Russia around on the Trieste question, as well as on other deadlocked matters, such as consideration of peace treaties in general and an agreement for Germany.

Authorities Are Puzzled

American authorities still were puzzled over Molotov's opposition to Byrnes' proposal for a four-power mutual assistance pact to supervise German disarmament for a least 25 years. Premier Stalin reportedly told Byrnes in Moscow last December that he favored such a pact.

The U. S. State Department can be expected to ask, through the American embassy in Moscow, for an explanation of this apparent change in the Russian position.

Just before adjournment yesterday, the ministers initiated a revised armistice for Italy. This will liberalize control over Italy and aid her reconstruction. Terms of the document will not be announced until they are approved by the supreme Allied commander in Italy, but an American informant said the armistice was believed to abolish the Allied Control Council.

Officials of the American delegation pointed to these four accomplishments of the conference:

An exhaustive and complete exchange of views has taken place, and each of the ministers knows now just how the others stand.

India at long last has independence within her grasp—and this time it is being handed to her on a silver platter.

That's the meaning of the British project of forming a federal union for self-government in India, and passing it on to the Indians, ready-made, so to speak. The great Indian political parties having failed to settle their bitter differences in the recent round-table conference at Simla, Britain now is arbitrarily moving to set up a government and is inviting the Indians to come along and run it, even to the extent of severing all relations with the mother country.

There are indications of strong opposition to the plan among Moslems, who desire a wholly independent state (Pakistan) for themselves. But Mahatma Gandhi, most powerful political figure in the country and guiding light of the All-India Congress (mainly Hindu) has advised careful study of the proposals, saying:

"Whether people like the announcement or not, it is going to be the most momentous one in this history of India."

That puts the thing in a nutshell. Ever since my last visit to India in 1943 this column has been insisting that such a procedure seemed the most likely one to break the deadlock. As I repeated a couple of days ago, Indian leaders themselves admitted to me that just such "strong arm methods" were needed.

Of course, we still have to see whether the plan will work, but it's the best effort that's been made in the long history of the oft-times bloody dispute.

Britain's new Socialist Prime Minister Attlee and his government have moved with great caution and, one is bound to say, with vast daring. For India is among England's most cherished possessions.

Increase Taxes

Berlin, May 17 (AP)—The Allied Control Council for Germany drastically increased today the taxes on tobacco, matches, beer and alcohol. Some rates were raised as much as 3,000 per cent. The new law represents another step in overhauling the German tax structure. The process started in February when income and property taxes were raised to increase revenue and reduce the inflation potential.

Shooting in Cuba

Havana, Cuba, May 17 (AP)—Unofficial reports today said heavy shooting broke out early this morning at Camp Columbia, Cuban army headquarters near Havana, and that several persons were killed and wounded.

liberalized.

Contact between Russia and the Western Allies has been maintained, through the scheduling of the next conference June 15.

Agreements have been reached on a number of minor matters, which will facilitate the drafting of peace treaties.

sions, and it is from this mighty subcontinent that the British sovereign derives his rank of emperor. He is king of the other domains, but emperor of India.

There are Imperialists who in their hearts—and perhaps publicly—will charge Attlee with having thrown away one of the most priceless of the crown jewels. Still, somebody had to make the move, for the Indian problem has been a menace to world peace.

The British plan on thumb nail is this: The Federal Union will comprise the provinces (called British India) and the some 600 Indian states which are ruled by princes and lesser potentates. There will be a central government which will control foreign affairs, defense and communications. All other matters will be dealt with by the governments of the principalities and the provinces.

There is, however, a vital deviation in the matter of the provincial governments. The provinces will be permitted to form regional legislatures and executive branches. These group legislatures will be intermediate between those of the provinces at the bottom and the federal government at the top. Now the point of these group legislatures is this:

The Moslems have been demanding Pakistan on the grounds that they fear the Hindus, who outnumber them three to one. It was this insistence by the Moslems on an independent state outside any federal government that caused the collapse of the round-table conference, since the Hindus want a federal government. Under the provision for group legislatures the Moslems can combine and so safeguard their interests, thus avoiding a division of India.

Today the Indian leaders have gone into a huddle to discuss the project. On their decisions depends the immediate future of 400,000,000 people—one fifth the population of the whole world. And it is a matter which affects the welfare of the entire globe.

Say's Soldier Confesses

Frankfurt, May 17 (AP)—The U. S. Army Provost Marshal announced today that an American Negro soldier had confessed the fatal shooting of two American enlisted men in Nuernberg last Friday night. The name of the prisoner and his motive were not immediately disclosed. Authorities said the Negro confessed after ballistics tests showed the fatal shots were fired from an Army carbine which had been traced to him. The victims were T/4 Paul R. Skelton of McKinney, Texas, and S/Sgt. William R. Timmons, of West Haven, Conn., both 21 years old and assigned to the fiscal department of "Stars and Stripes."

Man Escapes Injury

Martin Lindenberg of the Bronx escaped injury yesterday afternoon when the left rear wheel of his car came off as he was driving toward Kingston from Liberty. The accident happened near the Kowal premises at Marbletown about 3 o'clock. The car went out of control and landed in a nearby field, considerably damaged and was towed to the Doc Smith garage.

F.B.I. Probe Asked In Airliner Crash

Richmond, Va., May 17 (AP)—While Henrico county authorities continued attempts to identify positively 18 of the 27 passengers killed when a Viking airline fell through murky weather to crash in swampy pineland here yesterday, a C.A.A. inspector said he would ask the F.B.I. to investigate certain aspects of the crash.

H. G. Myers, civil aeronautics authority inspector making the inquiry, said the Federal Bureau of Investigation will be called in "because there are some things we can't account for."

He said two pistols, a part of another gun of some sort, two stillnetts, a pair of handcuffs and a police whistle were discovered amid the twisted wreckage.

"I want them (the F.B.I.) to help clarify some things in my own mind, and it may be something they would be interested in," the C.A.A. inspector said.

He said repeated explosions heard by at least one witness following the crash could have been bullets going off.

Table Silver!

Unless you help now, you may be disappointed

You've dreamed a long time about owning your own beautiful table silver. How would you like to wait a lot longer?

You've figured how to fit this important purchase into your budget. How would you like to pay as much as 50 per cent more than you'd planned?

Either or both of these things may happen—unless action is taken immediately to release idle government silver for use by the companies making silverware, who have reached rock-bottom of their silver stock-piles.

Legislation to release free silver (silver not required to back U. S. currency), at the O.P.A. ceiling price of 71c per ounce, is being held up in the Senate.

A small group of Senators—the "Silver Bloc"—is working to prevent the passage of this legislation, hoping to get the inflationary price of $1.29 per ounce instead of the current ceiling price of 71c. This would be an advance of more than 70 per cent and more than three times the pre-war price of silver.

Write or Wire Your Senators That You Need Silverware!

If you want to get your needed silverware quickly, and at prices you want to pay—phone, wire or write your Senators today!

Tell them your own story. Point out that you don't want to have to pay inflated prices for the plated ware or sterling silver you need. Urge them to do their part in getting action on legislation now stalled in the Senate . . . legislation to release idle silver for use at the O.P.A. ceiling of 71c per ounce.

Newburgh Rabbi Will

Speak Here Monday

A program of wide interest has been arranged for the May meet- ing of the Kingston Zionist Dis- trict. Rabbi Maurice J. Bloom of Newburgh will present an up to the minute review of the present status of world Jewry, especially with relation to Palestine.

In view of the recently pub- lished report of the Anglo-Ameri- can Commission of Inquiry, and the reaction on the part of Arabs, Jews and others, it has appeared to the local Zionist leaders desir- able to bring to the community one who has an intimate and per- sonal knowledge of these affairs.

Rabbi Bloom is an outstanding Zionist of the eastern region and maintains close and personal con- tacts with the leading figures in the movement. Regarded as a forceful orator, he speaks with authority upon all matters deal- ing with Jewish problems. He will also discuss the forthcoming elec- tion of delegates to the World's Zionist Congress, to be held in Palestine this summer and will touch upon the problems confront- ing the congress.

The meeting will be held at the Temple Emanuel, next Monday at 8 p. m. Following a short business meeting, the program will be shared jointly by the Kingston Zionist District and Hadassah.

Abraham Streifer, temporary chairman of the Zionist District, will preside and present the

Pennsylvanians May Enlist in Guard Units

Harrisburg, Pa., May 17 (AP)—The possibility arose today that Pennsylvanians may choose a "hitch" in a home-town National Guard unit as an alternative to induction for full-time duty in one of the armed services.

Congress, in amending the Selective Service law this week to ban the drafting of "teen-agers and fathers, let stand other provisions of the pre-war law. One of these put in Class I-C the personnel of federally-recognized National Guard units, recognizing them as "men in service," along with members of the Regular Army, Navy, Marine Corps and other specified services.

"It looks like we've gone clear around the circle and we're back where we started," commented Lt. Col. Henry M. Gross, State Selective Service Director, in reply to a reporter's inquiry. At present, the Pennsylvania National Guard is in transition between the inactivation of units that were called into federal service during World War 2, and their reorganization on a new basis. Recruiting for 26,287 officers and men in "first priority" units, later to be boosted to approximately 40,000 starts next month.

Maneuvers Continue

With the Eighth Fleet on Training Maneuvers off Puerto Rico, May 17 (AP)—A surface striking force led by the Battleship Missouri blasted today at targets designated by planes flying over the west end of Culebra Island. This is the third and last day of the preparatory attack for a landing by 5,000 Marines under Brig. Gen. Leavitt Nummer Saturday. "The Big Mo," the cruiser Macon and Dayton and several destroyers, dumper 50 tons of explosive shells on Culebra yesterday. The first day of the attack was exclusively aerial.

Jap Goes to Trial

Yokohama, May 17 (AP)—Takeo Fukunaga, former medical orderly at a prison camp, was ordered to trial today for beating and otherwise mistreating American prisoners. Listed as victims of his "cruel and brutal" acts were Cpl. John H. McClair, Pawtucket, R. I.; and J.F.C. James Cook, Lake Village, Ark. Capt. Andre R. Stevenson of White Plains, N. Y., was appointed prosecutor.
